MAINTENANCE MEN MAY STRIKE

BURGLARS BIND AND GAG GIRL, THEN ROB HOUSE OF PARENTS

Forced to remain silent under threats of death if she made an outcry, Ella Ruth Smith, 14 year old daughter of Mr and Mrs. Walter L. Smith, 805 Harrison street, was bound and gagged by a burglar whom she had surprised in he, home shortly after midnight Saturday. The girl, unable to move or summon help, fell asleep and was awakened by her parents Sunday morning.

According to police officials Sunday, Ella Ruth was aroused by the noise of someone moving about her bedroom. Thinking it was a member of the family she inquired as to what was wanted, whereupon a man stepped to the side of her bed quietly commanded her to remain quiet, then bound and gagged her.

Darkness made it impossible to distinguish any features of the intruder, the girl said, but from his voice she judged that he was a white man Aside from threatening her with death if she attempted resistance he made no offer to harm her.

Wearing apparel and other articles in the room were used to bind and gags the terrified victim, she reported, and when this was done the man silently left the room after giving a parting admonition to keep quiet. All efforts to work free from her bonds or to make some noise to summon aid were futile, Ella Ruth declared, and she finally dropped off to sleep. She was found by her parents about 7 o'clock Sunday morning and police summoned immediately after she had told her story

An inspection of the Smith home Sunday revealed that it had been ransacked from top to bottom but nothing of value had been taken It is believed that the thief was gathering up his loot when surprised by the girl and that he was afraid to remain longer in the house after knowing that someone was awake. Dresser drawers and other receptacles had been opened and a large quantity of household goods laid out so that it could be hastily moved, police reported.

Entrance was gained to the house by forcing open a rear window, while a door standing open gave evidence of having been used as an exit.

Police are of the opinion that the burglar entered the house and attacked the girl sometime between midnight and 2 o'clock, this assumption being based on the fact that no tracks could be found in the soft earth around the house occasioned by Sunday morning's rain.

ARBITRATION PLAN FOR COMMERCIAL DISPUTES ADVANCED

WASHINGTON, May 29—A plan for advancing arbitration as the means of settling commercial disputes between business men is announced by the chamber of commerce of the United States. Under the proposed plan, arbitration would consist of settlement of local controversies by local commercial bodies and disputes within an industry by trade associations. In case of failure to adjust differences by local means, machinery already created in the national chamber would be put in motion. A statement issued by the chamber said the international commercial body also is undertaking the furtherance of arbitration in international trade.

"The plan provides," the statement said, "a means for decision upon the merits of a business transaction as it is understood by business men There is no chance for the result to turn on some technicality or rule of which neither party had thought. A conclusion can be reached speedily because there is no opportunity for dilatory proceedings and the case does not have to take its turn on a long list of other cases

"When a decision is rendered it is final, the way is not open for appeals on unsubstantial matters to other bodies. The process of settlement through arbitration is so inexpensive that every honest difference in a business transaction can be submitted for determination."

WHEAT PRICES PLUNG DOWNWARD MONDAY IN SENSATIONAL DIVE

CHICAGO, May 29—Wheat prices made a sensational dive today, the May delivery plunging downward ten and a quarter cents a bushel as compared with quotations earlier in the session. May went as far down as 1 18¾ and for the first time this year sold at a lower price than July.

Subsequently, general selling developed and with aggressive support absent, prices underwent a rapid fall

Although the market had a wide range throughout the day it was not until shortly before the close that the net changes in prices as compared with Saturday got beyond ordinary limits Late in the day, however, it became apparent that traders who had been recently attempting to hoist prices had taken a different track and were endeavoring to unload their holdings by selling the July delivery and also though less openly, disposing of their holdings of May. As soon as this became evident, general selling set in. The only buying appeared to be from traders who were short and when they finished the market fell under its own weight.

Today's extreme fall brought May wheat down nearly 31 cents a bushel from the highest level touched only a few weeks ago

BOTTOMLEY SENT TO PRISON; COMMONS SEAT IS VACATED

LONDON, May 29.—Horatio Bottomley, former publisher of John Bull, was found guilty today by a jury on the charge of misappropriation of funds belonging to the Victory club. He was sentenced to seven years penal servitude.

A remarkable scene occurred in the court after sentence had been pronounced. The crowd surrounding Old Bailey surged after the van which was conveying Bottomley to prison and strong police measures were required to quell the demonstration which curiously had no vocal expression

Mr. Bottomley's conviction was immediately made known in a message by the judge to the speaker of the house of commons, who formally announced it in the house This automatically vacates Mr Bottomley's seat in the house for South Hackney, which constituency he served in parliament from 1906 to 1912, and again beginning in 1918 when he was reelected.

Bottomley in an appeal to the jury, said it would be an "appalling disaster, and the most appalling error in justice that the world has ever known if a verdict of guilty is found against me."

The Bottomley case has been exciting intense interest in England for several months since the defendant, a member of parliament, first was charged with fraudulently converting funds of the Victory Bond club, a war time organization of which he was the founder and president. When Bottomley was placed on trial he was specifically accused of misappropriating 5,000 pounds, but the prosecution alleged 402,000 pounds, he was declared to have handled, only 23,000 pounds could be accounted for. Bottomley swore during the trial that he had never made a penny out of his various clubs or improperly taken any amount whatever from the club's funds.

WOMAN ATTEMPTED TO HIRE ASSASSINATION IN MILLIONAIRE BAKER'S HOME

NEW YORK, May 29—William J Fallon, lawyer, retained by the family of Clarence Peters, the Massachusetts youth slain by Walter A Ward about two weeks ago, today announced that he was in touch with Charley Ross, who was alleged by Ward to have been with Peters at the time he shot him near White Plains, while attending a blackmailing tryst.

At Mr Fallon's office it was said that two men had been sent out to question Ross as to his knowledge of Peters and Ward It was believed that he would be able to throw some light on the mysterious hold the blackmailing band was alleged to have had on the millionaire baker.

After Mr Fallon left his office on a mysterious mission, a woman claiming to be Ross' sister telephoned the lawyer's office

WHITE PLAINS, N Y, May 29—Search was made today for a mysterious woman, said to have offered $500 to a youth in a New York restaurant to commit a murder in the New Rochelle home of Walter S. Ward, who admits he killed Clarence Peters because of blackmail, but keeps the nature of the blackmail secret.

A check-up by the police bears out the story told them by a waiter in a restaurant that a young woman dressed in black had taken him to New Rochelle, pointed out the Ward home and promised him $500 if he would enter the house with her and shoot the person she pointed out to him.

He refused on the pretext that he was not prepared and promised to meet her Saturday night. He went with his story to the police, who watched for the woman but she failed to appear Other employes in the place where the waiter works corroborated his story that the woman had eaten in the place several times and had made an appointment with him.

Search is also being made for a man named Ross, who is regarded as the brains of the blackmail gang of which Ward says Peters was a member and to whom Ward says he paid $20,000 before refusing a demand for $75,000. Counsel for the Peters family has promised to produce Ross but as yet has not done so.

REVOLT SMOLDERS SOUTH RIO GRANDE SO RUMOR HAS IT

MILITARY FORCES ACROSS FROM LAREDO WARNED OF IMPENDING ATTACK.

SACK OF STATION LAST WEEK IS REPORTED

Believed Rebels Will Seize Opportunity Offered By Troubles Far to South.

SAN ANTONIO, May 29—Rumors of a smothering revolution south of the Rio Grande coupled with the mysterious disappearance from San Antonio of several refugee Mexican generals identified with revolutionary factions, gave rise here to the belief in some quarters that the war clouds are gathering which will soon burst into a campaign in the vicinity of Nuevo Laredo.

Unconfirmed reports of a telegram to military forces at the Mexican military headquarters across from Laredo are that an attack is expected on the garrison in the near future by a force of rebels coming up the river on the Mexican side.

Added belief is given to the possibility of trouble because of the federal government having its attention diverted to the south of the republic by the rebellion in Tabasco and the recent uprising of the Yaqui Indians in Sonora.

Approaching Nuevo Laredo.

Reports reaching here from the border are that Colonel Luis Maltos, commander of the sixty-second cavalry at Matamoras, across from Brownsville, until last Wednesday, when he was forced to flee, is heading the revolutionary troops approaching Nuevo Laredo. This force is reported to have entered Mier, a Mexican military station on the Rio Grande further up from Matamoros, last Wednesday and after sacking the town, left with the garrison on their side From there it is said that the telegram was sent warning Nuevo Laredo of the impending attack

This, coupled with the burning of a bridge near Rodrigues a few nights ago by a band of rebels under the leadership of General Antonio Maldonado and the sacking of Santa Catarina, a few miles further south, by another rebel band, which remained there five hours and forced a loan of 50,000 pesos, gives rise to the belief here that these bands will get together in an organized attempt to overthrow the federal authority on the northern boundary.

The whereabouts of several of the generals living in San Antonio cannot be learned. They have left the city within the last two or three days and no word of their destination can be learned

The Nueve Laredo garrison is composed of the fortieth cavalry and two companies of the twentieth infantry under the command of Colonel Roman Lopez He is backed up by the forty-third cavalry at Lampazos a few miles further up along the national railroad. General Juan Jose Huartado is commanding general of that section with headquarters in Monterey

The federal forces from Mexico City have been dispatched to Tabasco under command of Enrique Estrada, making it impossible for federal forces to be sent to the north soon. Then General Angel Flores of the west coast has his hands full coping with the Yaqui situation

The Yaquis are breaking up into bands of 50 and 100 and are roaming in the southern part of the state of Sonora

While no information of the situation along the border can be learned due to a strict censorship placed on all news coming out, observers here look for action in the near future

MAINTENANCE OF WAY EMPLOYES BE CUT $48,000,000

REDUCTIONS ORDERED BY THE BOARD WILL PUT WAGES BACK TO 1920 LEVEL.

400,000 MEN WILL BE AFFECTED BY ORDER

Wages Are Cut From One to Five Cents An Hour By Board.

DETROIT, May 29—Belief that a strike vote would be ordered by the executive council of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes and Railway Shop Laborers, was expressed today by E F Grable, grand president of the organization, as the council went into session to consider the wage reduction ordered yesterday by the United States railroad labor board.

CHICAGO, May 29—Maintenance of way employes of the nation's railways face a $48 000 000 wage reduction July 1 as a result of last night's order by the railroad labor board. The order affects 400 000 men

The order, the $400 000 000 slash of last July, and pending orders affecting other classes if they carry the same ratio of reductions will place railroad labor back where it was before the $600 000 000 increase of May, 1920.

Impending decisions governing the wages of 500 000 railway shopmen, 200,000 clerks, telegraphers, station employes and other classes, were expected to follow closely upon last night's order, which cut the pay of maintenance of way workers from one to five cents an hour.

With their settlement over working rules still pending, the "big four" brotherhoods and the switchmen are not yet involved in any wage dispute before the board. These classes received a 12 per cent reduction last July, however.

Attitude of Workers.

Immediate consideration of last night's order by the executive council of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes was in prospect today with the prediction by B M. Jewell, head of the railway department of the American Federation of Labor that the decision will be rejected and submitted to a vote of the men.

Brotherhood officials characterized the cut as "indefensible," asserting that the case they presented to the board did not warrant the slash

The three labor members of the board returned a dissenting opinion to the order The cut decision was signed by the three members representing the public and the three railroad members

Money saved by the reductions will be expended in much needed maintenance work, according to reports of the roads to the board. Starting of this neglected work will offer employment to 200,000 additional men it was said.

Wages of maintenance of way employes, now ranging from 28 to 40 cents an hour, will after July 1 range from 23 to 35 cents Common labor suffered the biggest cut. This class numbers about 187,000 employes, along with 91,000 men who work around shops, roundhouses and yards

Section Workers Cut.

Section, track and maintenance of way foremen will take a three cent reduction, while mechanics not under the shop crafts agreement were cut four cents and mechanics' helpers one cent.

In the decision the board called attention to the fact that the present adjustment was based on previous wage adjustments, the first of which July 20 1920, increased the wages of all classes of employes approximately $600,000 000 a year, and the second, the decision of July 1, 1921, which slashed about $400,000,000 from wages of some 2,000,000 employes in all parts of the country These decisions, it was pointed out, were based upon horizontal increases or decreases of the scales prevailing prior to federal control of the roads, all of which were different for different divisions of the same road. Thus, it was said, the minimum rates authorized in the present decision will apply on very few divisions of a few roads in small groups of states, principally the south and southwest.

All of the former differentials were continued in the present decision, it being stated that the wages of this class of employes have not been standardized and uniform throughout the country and will not be made so under the decision. The wages of track laborers at present rates range from 24 to 40 cents per hour. Under the decision they will range from 23 to 35 cents an hour.

Common Labor Rates.

The decision asserted that under the new scale, common labor on the roads will still be receiving a rate higher than that paid similar labor in most other industries

Under the terms of the decision the classes designated as "common labor" and estimated to number some 187,430, were cut five cents an hour.

Labor of a similar class employed

DREDGE LAUNCHING BRINGS RIVER PROJECT TO NEW PHASE

SAYS IRRIGATION SYSTEM WILL BE A MONUMENT TO CITY'S FAITH AND INITIATIVE

By R. E. BASKIN
of Seymour.

The launching of the dredge boat, "T. B. Noble," next Tuesday, it is understood, will complete the ceremonies in connection with the construction of this immense irrigation project being built in northeast Baylor county by the Wichita county improvement water district No. 1.

It is but fitting and proper, and with due deference to his associates, that this occasion should do especial honor to T. B. Noble, vice-president of the district, who has worked with patience and persistence over a long period of years in helping to bring this enterprise to successful completion.

This undertaking has no precedent; it is the fruits of the vision of men who dream and achieve and have practical experience sufficient to enlist the aid of those with whom they are associated.

While completion is yet in the future, the countless obstacles contingent with the promotion of such enterprises have been successfully pioneered and now the perfectly marked highway to success is rolling the wheels in every department of this venture and the city of attainment is in view in the distance.

From the beginning history has been made. A constitutional amendment and certain statutes were necessary. These were passed and enacted largely by the influence of the citizenship of Wichita Falls, "The City That Faith Built."

The initiative of Wichita Falls emphasizes the immense importance of nationwide development in conserving the flood waters of the streams of the west. The far reaching scope of this enterprise is national in importance. At the present time this is the largest project of its chacter under construction in the United States. It is far too important to localize. It's benefits will be felt to the limits of the nation, both from the production of its irrigable area and the successful pioneering and blazing the trail for other like projects.

Irrigation Successful.

There are those who do not believe that the flood waters from the Big Wichita will be suitable for irrigation. Others think the type of soil make it unfeasible. It is a matter of history and of fact that there is not an exception, regardless of the character of the soil or water, where irrigation has not been in a large measure successful.

Irrigation is as old as the peoples of the earth. Its permanency is as thoroughly established as the seasons. It is the earliest application of science to agriculture. When Abraham entered the delta from Canaan, Egypt had long been enjoying the advantages of a settled government. Here nature provided the first irrigation project in the history of the world.

The ancients, and particularly the countries of Egypt and India, were more modern in this respect centuries ago than is America today. We excel in all the modern conveniences of planting, harvesting, storing and marketing, and have left undeveloped the natural resources so abundant to insure the growth of our crops.

More Aid Needed.

The United States has stood practically alone among the important irrigation countries in having left the work of the reclamation to the unaided efforts of private capital and in the prodigality of the surrender of public control of streams. In one respect it has been successful. It has resulted in an immense investment, somewhere between $150,000,000 and $200,000,000. In another respect it has been unsuccessful. Lands with water rights have been sold in excess of the available water supply. There are instances where almost double the amount of the capacity of projects have been attempted. There is no criticism merited for those who financed these enterprises. With any less than the maximum amount of acres sold the systems could never have been built. Without exception they were pioneered in the thinly settled west.

Steps are now being taken which it is thought will bring about a large measure of federal aid with federal supervision. Already this year the government has appropriated $134,000,000 for projects which are now under construction. Hope for the west is seen in these measures.

Naturally, sparsely settled regions have a correspondingly low taxable valuation, and regardless of the immeasurable benefits derived from their completion, make it unfeasible from a water tax standpoint. Had it not been for the fact that the city of Wichita Falls is incorporated into the Big Wichita river district this great enterprise could never have been financed. All localities are not so favored with such a city of wealth and thrift.

State Laws Ambiguous.

State aid in most of the states is inadequate. Thus far practically all laws governing the control of rivers used in irrigation and the distribution of water have been enacted by the several states. Many of the state laws are ambiguous, and the laws of the different states of the semi-arid regions vary widely in character and purposes.

The uncertainty of rainfall over a large portion of the agricultural southwest has always been a limiting factor. To admit that there are seasons with insufficient moisture to produce annual yields is to acknowledge the needs of irrigation. To admit this does not condemn the land or the country as it is. There is hardly a country in the world devoted to agriculture that has not been blighted by drouth. That we are more susceptible than some other area makes the needs more apparent. It is also true that the production over a period of years in this section of Texas will rival that of any non-irrigated lands in America. Soil moisture is fundamental in farming. Irrigation is not confined to arid regions. Rice, one of the most important crops, is grown under irrigation in humid regions.

Increased Production a Necessity.

Necessity must and will bring the prodigal further back to the pursuit of agriculture. In less than half a century the United States has developed from a largely agricultural to a largely industrial nation. The latest census reports tell us that our cities are increasing in population seven and a half times as fast as our rural districts. During the last ten years rural growth was only one-third as great as it was in the previous decade. On the other hand, the cities practically maintained their previous rate of growth. Though the greatest increases have occurred in cities of more than 10,000 in habitants, it is also a fact that the country hamlets and towns showed a greater proportionate increase than the purely rural districts.

It goes without saying that one of the urgent needs of the coming years will be for more food production. The greater part of our arable lands that can be profitably farmed is now plowed and seeded. The easiest, surest and quickest way to increase our production is to supply water, where available, in the semi-arid regions of the fertile western lands. It would intensify farming in these localities, cutting the size farms from their present section or more to 20, 40 and 80 acre tracts. These would be farmed largely scientifically and in many instances in this section two crops could be grown on the ground with the result of 40 acres producing more than the average quarter section farm under the system now prevailing.

$100 Per Acre Increase in Values.

Arthur P. Davis, director of the reclamation service, is authority for the statement that the government irrigation work has increased land values from ten dollars an acre before irrigation to $100 an acre under water. The average cost of both private and federal irrigation projects has been approximately $90 an acre. Consequently, if we apply these figures, a profit of $100 per acre in values will be the result.

Federal figures show that irrigated lands produce twice as much as nonirrigated lands. Such a rapid creation of wealth may not possess the spectacular features of a Klondike or a Texas oil boom, but it forms a drama of no less interest and constitutes an accomplishment of much greater permanent value.

Preliminary surveys were made in the middle '90s of an irrigation project on the Brazos river in Knox and Baylor counties by Joseph A. Kemp and associates. Mr. Kemp in speaking of this project says that it has the greatest possibilities of any now contemplated in the west. Activity on the Big Wichita irrigation work has revived the interest of Seymour for the accomplishment of a sister plant to the one now under construction and plans are now being formulated to proceed. The Brazos river being about 60 feet higher at the narrows at Vera than the levels of the Big Wichita would make it practical to connect the Brazos reservoir by canal with the Big Wichita storage lake, thus combining the two systems into one of the largest irrigation plants in the United States.

The proposed location of the Brazos dam precludes the necessity of a diversion dam and a gravity system of irrigation would be the result. Some changes would be necessary in this survey with reference to canals. The north canal was surveyed out to follow the general course of the Wichita valley into Archer and Wichita counties. This would be changed to follow the contour of the country with the general direction of the Brazos and in this way simplify the system and be an immense saving in cost. Conservative estimates of the irrigable area under this one ditch of canal is in excess of 50,000 acres.

This article on irrigation is made possible by the initiative of the promoters of the Big Wichita river project. Who can say what the vision of such men as Noble, Kemp, Kell, et al may make possible? Glory is due them and honor is their name. Great is Texas.

ONLY 7 ARTIFICIAL LAKES IN COUNTRY WILL EXCEED DIVERSION RESERVOIR IN SIZE

The new Wichita Falls irrigation reservoir now being constructed in Baylor county will be eighth in size in the United States so far as volume of water is concerned. This is set forth in a table compiled recently by John A. Donald, assistant city engineer, who has checked up on all the larger projects of the country and who has found that the water capacity of the new lake will be more than four times greater than the combined volume of Lake Worth, Lake Wichita and the diversion lake of the new project.

The seventeen largest artificial bodies of water in the country, together with their location, area in acres and capacity in billion gallons are given below:

Name	State	Area in Acres	Capacity
Elephant Butte	New Mexico	40,000	889
Roosevelt	Arizona		435

FIREMAN HELD ON $5000 BOND AFTER FOREMAN'S DEATH

Everett Carter, member of the Burkburnett fire department was held Sunday under bond of $5000 following the death of Aldy Williams, who succumbed to injuries suffered last Friday when he was struck by the fire department automobile.

The department was answering a fire call to the business district when the accident occurred. Williams was rushed to the Burkburnett hospital where his injuries were reduced. Little hope was expressed for his recovery immediately after the accident.

Williams was 18 years of age and was employed as assistant foreman on the Lowrey lease. Surviving he leaves a widow and an infant child; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Williams of Alva, Okla., and his grandmother, Mrs. D. A. Bradley of Henrietta.

Funeral services were to be held Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from the Dunn Undertaking parlors.

COMMISSIONERS NOT TO OPEN ROAD AS PETITIONERS ASK

Upon receipt of a general report from J. M. Isbell, county engineer, the commissioners' court Monday morning decided not to open up the road to the Lost Creek school house road as requested by a petition presented two weeks ago.

The petition asked for the opening of the road beginning at the northeast corner of section A of Tarrant county school lands, thence west along the north line of the said section, thence north to connect with the Lost Creek school house road.

The engineer reported that to opening the road it would require two large bridges and four small culs in addition to much expensive grading. He placed the estimate of cost at $4,500. Mr. Isbell said in his report that there is a road one mile east of the proposed one and that at the present time this precinct has 28 miles more road than any other precinct.

He recommended that the opening of this road be postponed until the financial condition of the county's treasury was better. The court accepted his report and voted not to grant the request of land owners who had expressed their willingness to donate land for the road.

BONDSMAN INSISTS THAT LABOR LEADERS GIVE UP CONTROL OF COUNCIL

CHICAGO, May 29.—Thomas Carey, millionaire brick manufacturer, who obtained the release of Fred Mader, head of the building trades council, and "Big Tim" Murphy, followed their indictment in connection with Chicago's bomb war and the slaying of two policemen, insisted today that the two labor leaders comply immediately with their agreement to relinquish control of the council.

Mr. Carey signed the bonds of Mader and Murphy on the sole condition that they would step out as leaders in the building trades.

Some union officials expressed a desire to place the whole situation before the building trades department of the American Federation of Labor at Cincinnati June 5.

"Con" Shea, the other of the "big three" leaders, was still in the county jail, where he was taken nearly three weeks ago following the raids on the offices of the building trades council. Efforts to obtain Shea's release by a writ of habeas corpus, will be continued, it was said.

NEXT ARMED MARCH CASE TO BE PLACED ON TRIAL JUNE 12

By Associated Press.

CHARLES TOWN, W. VA., May 29.—The prosecution today upset a tentative agreement to postpone the Logan county armed march cases until late in the summer and asked that Rev. J. E. Wilburn, charged with murder, be placed on trial June 12.

Prosecution counsel, however, before court opened, said they desired to continue trial of the armed march cases as soon as witnesses could be gathered; that, however, would probably take a week or ten days, they said.

Either Frank Keeny or Fred Mooney will be tried on treason charges immediately after the murder cases of eight men in jail had been disposed of, it was announced.

The trial June 12 was agreed to by Judge J. M. Woods and defense counsel.

EXTERMINATOR SHIPPED TO BELMONT PARK, N. Y.

LOUISVILLE, KY., May 29.—Having entered the equine hall of fame reserved for horses that have won $200,000 or more on the track, Willis Sharpe Kilmer's gelding Exterminator was shipped from here yesterday for Belmont Park, N. Y.

It was his victory Saturday at Churchill Downs in the Kentucky handicap, which had an added value of $[illegible], that brought the winnings of Exterminator to $262,[illegible]. The Kilmer racer and Samuel D. Riddle's Man o' War, which won $249,465, are the only American horses that ever have passed the $200,000 mark.

CHILDRESS SHIPPING MUCH LIVESTOCK

CHILDRESS, May 29.—Since January 1, this year, 5,079 head of swine have been shipped from this station, requiring 100 cars, most of the animals went to packers in California, but a few cars went to Fort Worth. Most of the hogs shipped to California weighed around 160 pounds. The heavy hogs cannot survive the trip through the deserts enroute to California, it is said.

Since January 1 Childress has shipped 2,469 head of cattle, requiring about 100 cars. Fifty cars of maize heads were also shipped during the period. In the same period 16,877 bales of cotton were loaded out from adjacent farms, while the cotton compress has shipped more than 52,000 bales.

PLEASURE BOAT SWAN REACHES PORT SAFELY

PENSACOLA, FLA., May 29.—The pleasure boat Swan, with about 50 persons aboard, missing throughout the night, reached her dock here today with all hands safe. The vessel ran into a gulf storm late yesterday, but tied up on the other side of the bay until it was safe to proceed back to Pensacola.

The Swan left Camp Saufley, a beach resort, at 5:30 p. m. yesterday, but encountered a gale and heavy seas in Santa Rosa sound. Attempts to return to Saufley were unsuccessful, and the little 70-foot motor propelled vessel could do little more than hold her own. Anchor was dropped about six miles from here during the night and several fruitless attempts were made to come to port during lulls in the gale. Another try shortly after daylight was successful and the vessel docked at 8:30 a. m., 13 hours after it left Saufley.

STERLING P. STRONG SENATE CANDIDATE, TO SPEAK MONDAY

Sterling P. Strong of Dallas, candidate for the United States senate, will speak in this city Monday night at 8 o'clock, it was announced Monday morning. Mr. Strong was scheduled to speak at Henrietta Monday afternoon.

Mr. Strong, who was leader of the prohibition forces in Texas in the election of 1916, has been prominent in state political circles for many years. His candidacy has aroused some interest by reason of his avowed friendliness toward the Ku Klux Klan.

The speaking will be held on the Moore & Richolt lot at the corner of Ninth and Indiana.

Practically all of the candidates for the senate will have spoken in this city, with Mr. Strong's appearance, the only exception being Mrs. James E. Ferguson, who has just announced as a candidate.

Germany has started a big "propaganda" to attract tourists to her pleasure resorts again.

STORES TO VOTE ON HALF HOLIDAY EACH WEEK THIS SUMMER

DIRECTORS OF RETAIL MERCHANTS MAKE RECOMMENDATION.

PLAN IS IN EFFECT IN MANY OTHER CITIES

Merchants to Ballot on Matter and Also On Day On Which to Close.

At a meeting Monday morning of directors of the Retail Merchants association, it was voted, 3 to 4, to recommend to the merchants that a weekly half holiday be taken during the summer months.

Letters will be sent to all merchants explaining the proposition and asking them to vote on whether they approve the idea, and what day of the week they favor. It is expected that Wednesday or Thursday will be the day designated.

Considerable opposition to the plan developed at the meeting Monday and it is not certain that it will be adopted. Advocates of the holiday point out that it has been in practice in many larger cities and that it causes little loss of business after the public has become accustomed to it.

Decision on the question will be determined by the result of the mail ballot to be taken this week.

WAS A BROKEN-DOWN WOMAN

Then I Began Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Medicines

Donaldsonville, La.—"I write with pleasure to praise your medicine—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—which has done so much to restore my health. I was a broken-down woman until my husband brought me a bottle of your Vegetable Compound and one of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine. I had been having pains every month and at intervals between, was weak and seemed to be smothering at times, but in a week I felt like another woman. I also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. It did me a lot of good too. I cannot praise your medicines too much and will be more than glad to recommend them to any woman who is suffering from female troubles. You may print my testimonial, as it is true."—Mrs. T. A. LANDRY, 612 Miss. St., Donaldsonville, La.

Note Mrs. Landry's words—"as it is true." Every letter recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is genuine. It is a statement telling the merits of these medicines just as the women in your own neighborhood tell each other.

"I'm sorry. I only wanted you to understand why I felt I had to warn you against Nelly. She's unfortunate, God knows, but she's dangerous, too. They all are, once the stuff gets a hold on them, there's nothing they won't do, no lie they won't tell . . ."

"And this is what goes on in this earthly paradise!"

"It isn't California, it isn't Hollywood, it's human nature."

XXVII

Lucinda dated from that Saturday the dawn of a fortnight when everything went wrong for her with such regularity that, in the end, the burden of its crosses grew too sore, the woman had been something more than merely mortal whose stores of fortitude and forbearance had not run low.

Naturally she blamed Bellamy . . .

But one day Lucinda devoted painful hours to totaling up her bank accounts, a duty which she had been religiously forgetting for months and whose performance brought to light the fact that she had already given Harry Lontaine checks to his order in the sum of two hundred and ten thousand dollars, to be cashed by him and deposited to the credit of Linda Lee, Inc

If she felt slightly dashed by this discovery, it was less because of the money involved—for she had from the first been prepared to pay more dearly for her whistle than Lontaine had declared it would cost—than because the end was not yet, the first picture remained unfinished. It was now necessary to write Willis and ask him to find her more money.

But her only course was to consult Lontaine in the faint hope that out of the sum entrusted to him there might be enough left in the company's treasury to see it through the present production. And this she hesitated to do because of an intuitive feeling that he would take this as directly challenging his competency. Lontaine was a sensitive soul . . . However, he spared her the pain, for the next time they met he blandly advised Lucinda that the company could do with another twenty thousand as soon as she could find time to draw the check, and on learning that it would have to wait a few days or until she could hear from Willis, he seemed considerably discountenanced, or else fancy misled her

The day when Lucinda broke with Barry Nolan began auspiciously enough with a night-letter from Harford Willis stating that money matters had been arranged in conformance with Lucinda's wishes, and adding that Willis hoped before long to give himself the pleasure of calling on her in person, he was leaving New York the day he telegraphed.

Not a little to her own wonder, Lucinda found herself pleasantly excited by the thought that she was to see this old friend again.

Busy with such reflections, and with the pleasing prospect of soon having a willing audience for her complaints, Lucinda made nothing of the fact that Lontaine showed the whites of his eyes and shied back like a skittish colt from the telegram which she submitted to his inspection, and was not much transquilized by the check which, at the same time, she gave him for the replenishment of the company's coffers And in her most amiable temper she hurried from his office to her dressing room, into the newest, prettiest and most becoming dance frock she had ever owned, who had owned so many, and then out to the stage.

The company was waiting, the cameras were waiting, Nolan with an air of noblest patience was waiting. All of which was quite needless, for there was other work in abundance that could have been attended to.

As Lucinda drew near, Nolan hoisted himself out of the basket chair in which he had been lounging, with something more than a suggestion of limbs cramped by prolonged activity, and bowed politely, too politely.

"Sorry if I've kept you waiting Mr. Nolan, but I had some business with Mr. Lontaine we couldn't put off."

"No matter at all, Miss Lee, I assure you—not matter a-tall! My time is yours, the company's time is yours, all the time there is is yours to use or waste, just as you think best."

Lucinda couldn't very well let offensiveness so pointed pass without comment. She stopped, turned squarely to face Nolan, with a keen smile looked him deliberately up and down, a movement of shoulders summing up clearly enough the substance of her impressions.

"Thank you for telling me," she said sweetly. "And now that is understood, suppose we try to make up for the time I've wasted, if possible, by getting to work at once . . ."

Nolan's eyes snapped, but the only retort that occurred to his mind as at all appropriate he felt instinctively to be inadequate in point of elegance.

"Fair enough," he agreed with a passable display of good spirit. "Let's go to it, then." He approached the set, upon which two cameras stood trained at close range, with Klieg lights focused. "Now, Miss Lee, I'll just line in what I want of you this scene"

The set was a simple angle, where two walls met in an apartment hallway, with a door that opened inward from a living room set beyond. In this last the big dramatic moment of the play was to be staged, a scene involving Lucinda and her two leading men, the heavy father and the juvenile, his son, both of whom were understood to be in love with Nelly

Here, in his bachelor apartment, Nelly was to call at midnight on the father, to beg him to intervene with the titular villain and save her wayward brother from imprisonment.

The madly infatuated father was to propose marriage, and Nelly was to accept him, momentarily carried off her feet by the sincerity of his passion as much as by the glamour of his wealth and social position.

While this was going on, Dick, the son, passing in the street, was to catch a glimpse of Nelly's shadow on the window shade and, wild with jealousy, demand admittance. The father was to conduct Nelly to the private hallway, understanding that she was to slip away by the back door.

Instead of doing so, Nelly was to linger and overhear the quarrel between father and son, in the course of which it was to transpire that the former had once offered to wager the latter that he could make the girl his mistress within a given period of time Whereupon, in revulsion of feeling, Nelly was to confront the two and, while confessing she had planned deliberately to marry either one or the other of them for his money, assert herself to be too good to be the wife of either

Nolan proceeded now to act out in his own person the business which he conceived to be in character for a girl of Nelly's quality in circumstances so contrived as to make voluntary eavesdropping on her part seem constructively defensible. And Lucinda looked on with earnest attention and puckered brows, eager to catch everything that would help her become a better actress. Her distruct of Nolan extended only to his abilities as a constructive builder of story-telling pictures and judge of pictorial values. For the very considerable amount of raw power as a pantomime which he indubitably possessed, she had much respect.

This enthusiasm was running away with him now, he was building the solo scene which Lucinda was to play on lines of broad emotional melodrama widely inconsistent with the situation Forgetting that, while the conversation assumed to be going on beyond the door was one well calculated to annoy and disgust her whom it concerned, its revelations were after all hardly of a character to break her heart. Nolan was, as Nelly, ranting and raving in the angle, like one gone half-mad with shock and grief. Yet such was the fire he infused into the performance that for the time being he truly succeeded in perverting Lucinda's grasp of the scene Having exhausted his repertoire of emotional artifice, he stepped out of the camera lines, consulting Lucinda with a glance and the stereotyped inquiry, "See what I want, dear?" she nodded without thinking—"You make it most real. I'll do my best"—and stepped into character and the set as the lights blazed on, the cameras began to tick, and Nolan seized his batom of authority, the megaphone which he invariably used while directing, though he had as much need of it now as the cameras had of telescopic lenses.

"Now, dear," he blared through this instrument—"go to it and show us all you've got. Don't be afraid of letting yourself go. Remember, this is your big scene, biggest you've got in this story, your one grand little chance to put it over that you're a sure-enough actress . . . Now you put your ear to the crack in the door and hear your name. Give a big start and look horrified You never dreamed men could talk about women like that, you know. Show us horror, dear, and make it strong, you can't make it too strong. Remember you're just realizing the man you love is such a rotten cad he could make a bet about your virtue. It just makes you feel sick all over—

"Great snakes! What's that for? What's the matter?"

For a sudden Lucinda laughed outright, suddenly the heart-rending tremolo of Nolan's voice as he detailed the awful offense Richards had committed against Nelly in the play tickled irresistably her sense of the absurd and her laugh followed naturally, inevitably, uncontrollably

"I'm sorry, Mr Nolan" she gasped "Forgive me, I—I didn't know I was going to laugh till—till—till it struck me as so funny—"

Her voice rose and broke in another peal of hysterical merriment her words became unintelligible while Nolan literally ground his teeth

"What struck you as so funny? he exploded "Show me anything funny about this scene and I—I'll eat my megaphone. What's so damn' funny?"

"Oh, I am sorry!" Lucinda was doing her utmost to sober herself, but still her voice shook and her body rocked with recurrent spasm of idiotic mirth. "You see—when you said that—what you said about Richards being a rotter—all at once it struck me—I'm sure I don't know why—as funny, too awfully funny for words!"

"Well, why?" Nolan insisted, all but dancing with rage. "Hell! Give a reason. Why's it funny?"

NEGRO ARRESTED IN WACO CASE IS RELEASED MONDAY

B. B. Wildcat, a negro arrested Sunday at Jolly and placed in the county jail here for officers from Waco, held in connection with the killing of Harold Belton and the assault on Mrs. Margaret Hayes last Thursday night was released from custody Monday morning by Sheriff Fred K Smith

The description sent out from Waco as well as the picture accompanying it, fitted Wildcat to perfection but Sheriff Buchanan in a telephone message to Sheriff Smith Monday stated that Wildcat was not the man sought.

The Jolly agent of the Fort Worth and Denver had spied the negro at work at Jolly and informed the sheriff at Waco who in turn got in communication with Sheriff Smith.

The foreman under whom Wildcat worked stated that the negro had come to Jolly a week ago Sunday from Waco and went to work on Monday morning. The killing and assault at Waco occurred on Thursday evening of last week which furnished the negro a perfect alibi

One negro was lynched at Waco in connection with the same case last Friday.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

What a Fix the Moon-Man's In! He Can't Please Everybody, Can He?

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"Oh, by the way, here's the list," he remarked

When Nancy and Nick had had tea at the Moon-Man's house, and scraped up the last bit of crackers and milk out of their bowls the Magical Mushroom said he'd be going

"I'll go to the top of the mountain we landed on and take a jump," said he My wide parachute hat will keep me from falling, and I'll sail down ever so gently to the earth Then I'll go to the Fairy Queen's palace and tell her everything's all right"

"If you like, I'll send a moonbeam down till it touches the earth," said Mr Peerabout dumping the bowls into a dish pan and pouring hot water over them Then you can slide the whole way without any trouble at all

"Oh no" Thank you just the same said the Mushroom "Oh by the way, here's the list," he remarked reaching in his pocket and handing a folded paper to the Moon-Man

"Why, bless my soul" cried Mr Peerabout, wiping his hands "I'd forgotten all about it It shows I'm getting old They'll soon have to get another Man-in-the-Moon that's sure. First thing you know some time I'll be going around in the daylight instead of the night and folks will think I'm lost

Nancy and Nick were curious to know what the paper was about, so as there didn't seem to be much of a secret about it they listened

"Hum ha" sighed the Moon-Man putting on his specks and looking at the paper The usual crowd wants the usual things The people of Whispering Forest want no moon at all so they'll be safe from Fleet Fox and Blunder Bear

The Wigglefin People down under the sea, want a full moon because the tide is high then Mr Hunter wants a sickle moon turned upside down so it will rain and that's good for hunting

"Mr Farmer wants the moon turned the other way so it will be dry and that's good for planting Hum, ha" What shall I do"

OUR FIRST YEAR

NO 49—OLD MAN WOOS FLAPPER

By a Bride

At the Main street station I found George Bradshaw patrolling the causeway for auto traffic A red-cap, near by, guarded two splendid pieces of baggage

Certainly a man with his tastes would appreciate a millionaire father-in-law

At first I thought I would go right up to George and tell him frankly I was there because Mr Tearle had asked me to keep him and Bonny apart

And when Bonny arrived I'd let her storm if she wanted to And George could rage But if it was in any person's power to dissuade that flapper I ought to make the effort.

And if I couldn't I'd wire Mr. Tearle to meet them when they stepped from the train in New York

Either way Bonny would now be saved So there was no particular sense in talking to G B before the child arrived

I was a dull, commonplace little figure in the big crowd, rather uncomfortable, too, without my breakfast impatient to have it over

George Bradshaw grew conspicuously restless as the minute for the departure of the train approached—and Bonny did not arrive

And well may he worry said I to Me "And I suppose G B could coax a dozen beauties, of all ages to run off with him, but not another one with the million he wants

The last belated traveler jumped from the running board of a taxi and rushed through the gates which clicked sharply behind him

And Bonny had not come'

The crowd thinned but G B was too preoccupied to notice me Any one could see that he was mightily disappointed and nervous Not until the train had pulled out did he hail a taxi and drive away.

When he was out of sight I hurried to a telephone booth and called up the Tearle number

"Mademoiselle is asleep Mrs Madison'" a maid replied to my question

"Are you sure Ginette" This is important Will you please go to Miss Tearle's room open the door softly and be quite sure whether or not she is there"

In five minutes Ginette was back with the information that mademoiselle was sleeping soundly

I laughed as I hung up the receiver Doubtless at that very moment her dapper suitor of 50 was raging in his hotel

"So much for a romance with an irresponsible flapper ran my mental comment But good for Bonny She must have a saving remnant of her father's common sense

But what had made her change her mind" Why had she played this unparalleled joke"

Although 15 years old the Mauretania one of the largest liners, has been converted to burn oil fuel

¼ Pound or 4 oz. Short

You wouldn't think of paying for a dozen oranges and accepting nine.

If you don't know what you are getting, that's exactly what may happen when you buy some brands of baking powder that used to be put up in 16 oz., or full pound cans and now come in 12 oz. or 3/4 pound cans. Of course the weight is marked on the label, but the can may look as large as usual to you.

Don't take chances—look at the can—know how many ounces of baking powder you are getting.

One safe way is to always buy Calumet. You know the large can contains 16 oz. or a full pound—that nothing has been taken from the quantity or quality.

Calumet has more than the ordinary leavening strength. You don't have to guess—you know you use less. It is pure and sure.

FARMERS PREPARE TO HARVEST WHEAT WITHIN NEXT WEEK

MANY ARE EXCUSED FROM JURY SERVICE BY JUDGE MARTIN MONDAY.

CUTTING WILL BEGIN FIRST OF NEXT WEEK

Yield Will Average From 10 to 15 Bushels Per Acre Over County is Estimate.

Farmers throughout Wichita county are busily engaged in getting machinery into working order preparatory to harvesting the wheat crop next week. This was evidenced in the empanelling of the jury for the week in the 89th district court Monday morning

A half dozen farmers who had been summoned for jury services asked to be excused on this ground. Judge Martin asked them to return next week, but all of them stated that they would be more busy next week.

Farmers are of the opinion that the wheat will be ready to cut beginning the first of next week. It has ripened fast during the past few days when the thermometer reached the 98 degree mark. The rust, farmers stated, has done but little damage thus far.

It is estimated that the yield in Wichita county will average from ten to fifteen bushels per acre. In practically all of the fields there are patches where the stand is very poor.

According to many men who have traveled over various parts of the county, one of the best stands of wheat is found on the county farm Superintendent Louis Jernigan estimates that the yield there will be fifteen bushels to the acre.

BAR BANQUET FOR TUESDAY NIGHT AT KEMP POSTPONED

The bar banquet which was to have been held at the Kemp hotel Tuesday night at 8 o'clock, has been indefinitely postponed according to an announcement made Monday by the officers of the bar association.

The absence of a great number of local attorneys from the city, including President Judge Edgar Scurry who was called to Washington in the interest of the Abraham Lincoln memorial, accounts for the postponement

Judge Nelson Phillips was to have been the guest of honor and the principle speaker and the attorneys from adjoining counties had been invited to attend.

MRS. FRANK WILKIE, of Syracuse, N. Y., formerly matron at the State Reformatory at Industry, N. Y., who says she is delighted with Taniac since it restored her health after she suffered eight years.

"This is the first time in eight years that I have been free from stomach trouble and it is all because of the wonderful good Taniac has done me," said Mrs. Frank Wilkie, 229 Cedar St., Syracuse. Mrs. Wilkie formerly resided in Buffalo and for two years was matron of the State Reformatory at Industry, N. Y.

"I was eating scarcely enough to keep alive," she declared, "for I would rather not touch a bite than suffer the misery I knew would follow. Even sweet milk disagreed with me. I was sick in bed for two and three days at a time, and gas on my stomach made such awful pressure on my heart is almost cut off my breath. I had horrible dreams at night and in the morning was all tired out.

"Well, the longest day I live I will praise Taniac, for my improvement has been simply remarkable I have no more heartburn, my appetite is wonderful, I can eat most anything I want, and my sleep is sound and restful. I am thoroughly delighted with Taniac. It is wonderful"

Taniac is sold by all good druggists.—adv.

SEVEN KILLED IN STEAMER SMASH ON COLUMBIA RIVER

PORTLAND, ORE., May 29.—Seven sailors were killed and two firemen were injured in the collision last night in the Columbia river off Altoonah, Wash., between the steamers Welsh Prince and the Iowan, according to information available early today at the naval radio station at Northhead. The steamer Iowan was reported to be on her way up the Columbia river early this morning under her own steam.

The steamers Iowan and Welsh were in collision in the Columbia river off Altoona, Wash., at 11:30 last night and, according to advices received by telephone from the radio operator at Fort Stevens, Ore., the Welsh Prince sank 30 minutes later. Both are freighters.

A report early today from the Fort Stevens wireless operator said that the Welsh Prince was resting on the bottom and that the boilers apparently had exploded and that part of the craft which was above water was afire.

The radio operator on the Iowan reported that some of the crew of the Welsh Prince were injured. It was further stated that no one had been killed.

The Iowan was reported to have suffered severe damage and to be slowly sinking.

S. E. J. COX WILL MAKE HARD FIGHT IN TRIAL THAT STARTS ON MONDAY

HOUSTON, May 29.—Selection of a jury in the trial of Seymour E. J. Cox, oil promoter, was completed at noon in the federal court. Cox is charged in 14 counts with use of the mails to defraud in connection with the sale of stock in the Cox Realization company, the General Oil company and the S. E. J. Cox company.

Reading of the indictment was scheduled for the afternoon session.

HOUSTON, May 29.—One of the hardest fought trials in the annals of federal court here is expected with the opening today of the trial of S E. J. Cox, oil operator and airplane enthusiast. Cox faces an indictment charging, in 14 counts, use of the mails to defraud in connection with sale of stock in three companies whose capitalization aggregated on paper $41,000,000.

A special venire of men from 13 counties has been summoned and there are witnesses from 22 states

Cox will enter a plea of not guilty, counsel said.

A dramatic fate has pursued S. E. J. Cox since his entry into Texas He was arrested March 13 in the Broadway theater district of New York, and upon arrival in Houston was released on $25,000 bond.

He came to Texas at the height of the oil fever and since then has organized eight oil companies and one publishing company.

An airplane enthusiast, Cox was in France in 1920, attempting to capture the James Gordon Bennett races when the General Oil company, up to then his most successful company, was plunged into receivership.

The federal trade commission wrote another chapter in his sensational career. Charges of indulging in "improper practices" were made against the promoters. The hearing was held, but no decision was handed down.

Cox has paid for educating a number of youngsters in higher institutions of learning. He has been known by some as "the Texas oil king," but his attorneys say he lost virtually all his money in his own oil ventures.

GOOD CROP WEATHER OVER WEST TEXAS

STAMFORD, TEXAS, May 29.—A week of dry weather throughout central west Texas, the plains and extreme west Texas has enabled farmers to get into their fields and plant where they had not already done so, according to the west Texas chamber of commerce

The scarcity of cottonseed for planting purposes which threatened to make the situation serious in west Texas has been overcome. Many of the oil mills rallied to the situation and saved the day.

Much cotton is up and looking thrifty in portions of west Texas. Small grain is looking well everywhere. In some sections of the territory covered by the organization the wheat crop will be much better than was surmised a few weeks ago. The recent rains seem to have stimulated the growth of the grain. Reports come in indicating that the yield in some favored sections of the plains and panhandle will be from 20 to 30 bushels to the acre, though of course this is exceptional.

PRESIDENT MAKES SURPRISE VISIT TO ANNAPOLIS

ANNAPOLIS, May 29.—The hundreds attending the graduation exercises at the United States naval academy today received a surprise when the yacht Mayflower, on which President Harding left Washington Saturday with Mrs. Harding and a party of friends for a cruise down Chesapeake bay, dropped anchor here.

After lunching with Admiral Wilson, superintendent of the academy, the president planned to review the midshipmen and witness the annual baseball game between Annapolis and West Point.

The Mayflower arrived off Annapolis about 8 o'clock and was given a salute by the battleships Maryland, Delaware and North Dakota laying off the port

Arrangements had been made for the president's party to land about 11 o'clock. Admiral H. P. Jones, commander of the Atlantic fleet, planned to call on the president during the forenoon

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., May 29.—Declaring that the American legion stands in deed as well as in the words of its constitution, "to maintain law and order," Birmingham post No. 1 of the organization has adopted resolutions condemning as "unlawful, un-American and anarchistic" the whipping of Dr. J. D. Dowling, city health officer, by a mob last week.

Dr. Downing upon his return from St. Louis, where he attended the convention of the American Medical association, said he would be back at his desk today and on the job for good, in defiance of the mob's threat to kill him unless he left town within 60 days.

SPECIAL SHOWING OF ORPHANS OF STORM FOR NEWSPAPER MEN

A special showing of the big D W. Griffith picture "Orphans of the Storm", which is to be the feature attraction of the week at the Strand theater was given Sunday morning at the theater with several representatives of the local press as an audience. The presentation was given through the courtesy of Messrs. Crowell and Day of the Strand.

The screen play is based on the historical novel "The Two Orphans" and gives a graphic portrayal of the life of two orphan girls before and during the French revolution Lillian and Dorothy Gish carry the leading parts.

As an entertainment vehicle the offering is superb The action is rapid and thrilling from first to last and the plot, while dependent to some extent on the work of the actors, is wholesome and absorbing

The historical characters of Louise XVI, Danton, Robapierre and other factionist leaders that were prominent in the historical struggle between the French classes are seen on the screen

H. H. AUSTIN CASE WILL NOT BE TRIED DURING THIS WEEK

The H. H. Austin case, which was set for trial for Friday of this week will not be tried as scheduled, due to the fact that one of the state's principal witnesses was called to Chicago on important business last Friday.

Austin is charged with a statutory offense, the prosecuting witness in the case being a ten-year-old girl of Burkburnett. Austin has been held in the county jail without bail bond since his arrest

A special venire had been ordered to report on Friday but Judge Martin rescinded the order Monday morning.

The special venire in the Mike Tucker case, who is also charged with a statutory offense, will report on Wednesday morning as ordered.

WAGE ADJUSTMENT MEANS ABOUT $500 LOCALLY, BELIEF

The readjustment of wages as announced by Associated Press reports Monday morning as pertaining to railroads will mean not more than $500 or $600 a month locally, is the belief expressed by local railroad officials

The table has not been received at any of the local offices as yet, but from information gathered from the press report and advance bulletins, officials state that it will not mean a great deal in the railroad circles here

The cut in wages does not pertain to skilled labor in any way and merely means a reduction in wages to common labor which includes the maintenance of way

The tables for the new scale which is to go into effect July 1, will be received at the local offices sometime during the week, at which time more definite information will be obtained

VAGRANCY AND TIRE THEFT CHARGES AGAINST TWO

A practical application of "killing two birds with one stone" was made by the police department Sunday night when C A O'Mary, "Speck" O'Mary and W A Key were arrested on vagrancy charges and later found to have had a stolen automobile tire on a Ford touring car they were driving

The three men were arrested by Officers Bebout and Shook at 9 o'clock and lodged in the city jail Their car was left parked in front of the city hall.

Later in the evening R. C. Dyer, 1409 Taylor street, reported that a casing and inner tube had been stolen from his Ford car as it was standing in front of his home. At that time he did not know of the earlier arrest, but Monday morning on coming to the city hall he recognized the tire on the right front wheel of the machine in which the trio had been found.

Positive identification of the tire was made by Mr Dyer through paint marks on the inside.

The three men held in jail were transferred to county officers later in the day and complaints of burglary filed against them.

KIWANIANS RECITE VERSE AND BANTER FELLOW MEMBERS

Comedy and "poetry" ran riot Monday noon when the Kiwanis club met at the North Side community house in North Wichita and spent more than an hour in bantering each other and the world in general with polyglot doggerel that was presented under the heading of "verse"

The meeting had been planned for a long time with the result that ten or a dozen Kiwanians appeared with brief pieces that they had dug up from somewhere Most of the "poems" were aimed at Ben Neal and his conquests with the fair sex, although one or two were directed at other members of the club B F Johnson brought down the house with an impromptu shaft of sarcasm at W. W. Silk's propensity for stowing away the chicken dinner set before him and near the close of the program Bobby Burns submitted ten words that almost won him a $10 laundry ticket offered as the attendance prize by Gerald Pond

In order to keep faith with some of its readers The Times must exclude the Burns effusion from its columns.

Joe Art explained his lack of preparation by the fact that he has been studying art all week, whereat some traitrous brother member recalled having seen him at a local swimming pool on several occasions.

The dinner was served by ladies of the North Side Civic League under the direction of Mrs. A. F. Gullat and brought warm words of appreciation for its excellence from the Kiwanians

Musical entertainment was provided by a stringed trio consisting of piano, violin and cello, played respectively by C J Duffey, Miss Vivian Bailey and M. A Ellis

Gerald Pond gave a $10 laundry ticket as the attendance prize and on motion of the club it was given the hostesses. S. Bemrod gave the silent boosts, which were small rolls of tire tape

A report by M. G Catter, chairman of the sick and poor committee of the club, showed that over $300 worth of clothing, magazines and other articles had been distributed by the Kiwanians among the worthy poor of the city.

Special wireless sets are being made for the use of cowboys while riding their rounds.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God.—Romans 8:14.

Yet I doubt not through the ages one increasing purpose runs,
And the thoughts of men are widened with the process of the suns.
—Alfred Tennyson.

IS THIS THE QUALITY THAT MAKES YOU MEDIOCRE?

The cheapest quality in the world is brittleness. Did you ever think about it?

Pig iron is brittle and brings a few cents a pound. The same metal, rendered pliant and responsive by a masterful process, brings thousands of dollars a pound.

Cheap chinaware is brittle and you can buy sets of it, decked out in "bluebirds" or other such camouflage for quality, for a few cents per piece. Refined clay—or porcelain—brings as high as a hundred dollars a plate, cup and saucer, or bowl.

Cheap glassware is brittle, and easily cracked and broken. The refined product has a quality of resiliency with its beauty and brilliance.

Cheap cloth is brittle. Filled with starch and other such "dressing," it will crack and split. Put through the laundry it comes out limp and unfit for use—as well as sight. The more expensive clothing material becomes the softer and finer in texture it is, with the same exquisite quality of "give" that characterizes every other product of real refinement in the world.

And it is an exquisite quality. It is the quality, in people, that raises them, regardless of other characteristics, out of the class of the mediocre and average.

"I will never forget what she said," a young woman remarked the other day of some careless speech of an acquaintance. The declaration was accompanied by a proud lift of the head.

"I don't forget things easily," men and women are both proud to say, with regard to wrongs.

It is a common and popular characteristic—this "stay with me through eternity," "burned into my heart," "deathless and unchanging" sort of brittleness. Cheap, spurious and common, an imposter of the virtue of changelessness as applied to the true and real. And it surely is one of the greatest sources of mediocrity in average human nature—the inability, often very proudly acquired, to forgive, to forget, to retreat and retract. "We say many things we have to swallow with tears" is a better known saying than it is a characteristic.

And it is a queer thing that for hundreds of years men have worked at thousands of intricate and wonderful processes by which they take the brittleness out of every known earthly product; that for hundreds of years they have toiled and sweated to perfect one little formula that would achieve a desired result in rendering pliable and beautiful one little bit of metal or hide; that for hundreds of years they have rendered the homage of labor and love to the gracious refinement of elasticity in things—and yet have clung, down through the ages, to the lure of cheap changelessness in human personality.

HIS COME-BACK.

A pale youth—body wasted by suffering, but eyes glowing with exalted purpose—steps into the office of a wealthy man in Portland, Ore.

He says: "Mr. ———, I robbed your house in 1914. I'll make restitution if you'll tell me how much you lost."

The young man gradually is repaying the hundreds of people he robbed. As he steadily wipes the slate clean, he looks the world in the face and says:

"Society cannot take what I earned in France—the right to live honorably. From now on, I shall fight for the right to walk in the open."

The young man's photograph is before the writer of this editorial. His name is withheld—because circulating it could do him no good, and probably might harm him in his admirable fight to make amends and start anew.

The young man claims that he was educated to be a thief. When 12 years old, he was taken through the streets of Pacific coast cities. Detectives were pointed out to him.

Like a pupil of Fagan, he was coached in all the technique of crime—how to steal, make a getaway, dispose of loot.

At 13, as bellboy in a Seattle hotel, he started his crime career by breaking into the proprietor's room, stealing a purse—and removing his fingerprints.

For three years, he says, he was a thief. Finally Oregon sent him to a reformatory, where he had time to "think it over" and study himself.

He escaped, went east, made his way honestly. Then, in uniform, he went to France, where he was gassed, shell-shocked and wounded.

Recovered, he continued living honestly. But something kept him uneasy, unhappy. Finally the light dawned. He realized that his conscience was tormenting him. As soon as he began to make restitution to the people he had robbed, a great peace and happiness came over him.

This young man was the product of a home destroyed by divorce. Bad influences and environment made him a criminal, but they could not keep him so.

It is an exceptionally interesting case, especially for students of criminology. It demonstrates that the inner self can rise above and conquer environment of the worst sort.

To men like this, the world is always ready to extend the helping hand. Young men who are just starting on the downward path can learn from this Portland youth that it is never too late to turn back and take the right road.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE DESIRE TO WIN.

Before you can reach a desired destination, you must first map out a plan for reaching it. And before the plan there must be created in your mind a deep desire to go or to do.

Behind the builder is the architect, but the builder must use every care and watchfulness that his completed structure is up to the dream embodied in that architect's detailed drawings.

I watched two workmen the other day. They were at work on a wall. One man kept to his work and you could see that he had in his mind something back of every shovel of dirt and the replacing of every rock. But the other workman merely shoveled and threw rocks. I called the attention of the head boss to the two men and he said that he had been watching the latter and that he would be discharged at the end of the week, for he worked in the same way on every job to which he was put.

Behind what you do must be the desire to do it, not only well, but better than it has ever been done before.

World's tennis champion Tilden, in an article in the public press recently, commented on the wonderful sportsmanship and fine character of former Champion McLaughlan, probably the greatest and pluckiest tennis player who ever lived.

McLaughlan has already secured two "legs" on the championship bowl and needs but one more tennis championship to bring him this coveted trophy permanently. All his throng of admirers would like to see him win it.

But McLaughlan probably will never attempt another championship—for, as Tilden commented, he has seemingly lost all desire to win.

The desire to win puts people across against every odd in the world!

You must have it. Everybody must have it, if they would grow in strength, power and happiness. Back of each one of us must operate a deep and driving desire to excel and to be somebody.

Want something? Want it strong enough, and nine chances to one you will get it.

AT THE STATION.

Down at the station they used to wait,
All lined up at the railroad gate—
Mother and father and cousin Jane,
Searching the track for the coming train,
Grandpa and Grandma and all the pack,
Waiting to welcome a wanderer back.

Then never one of us went away
In the summer time, for a few weeks' stay,
But what he was sure of a rousing din
And a greeting warm when the train pulled in;
Oldest to youngest would be in wait
To welcome him at the station gate.

I've stood in the line myself and know
The splendid thrill of that fine "hello!"
And the laughter glad and the rush to be
The first of that anxious flock to see
The wanderer quitting the railroad train,
Safe and sound in the town again.

I've been the traveler, too, and I
Have seen the light in the mother's eye,
And the father's smile, and the brother's grin
And his rush to carry my suit case in,
And I know the depth of the joy it means
To play a part in those station scenes.

Now the line has thinned and there's few to wait
To watch for me at the railroad gate.
But I know some day in the distant years
When my soul in the other realm appears,
The oldest to youngest once more I'll see
Eagerly waiting to welcome me.

SMILE A WHILE

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY.

Today's word is—Sacrilegious

It's pronounced—sak-ri-lee-jus," with accent slightly on the first and more strongly upon the third syllable. It is "often," Webster remarks, "erroneously pronounced, even by educated speakers, as if spelled sacreligious."

It means—in violation or profanation of sacred things

It comes from—Latin "sacrilegus," that gathers or picks up sacred things; a combination of the two Latin words "sacrare," sacred or holy, and "legere," to read or gather

It's used like this—"Any suggestion that their country has not the right to use force if Germany should default in reparations payments is treated by French statesmen as almost sacrilegious."

Mrs. Margaret Smack, 107 year old colored woman of Philadelphia, is probably the oldest woman voter in the country.

Out of 6,000 members of the Actresses' Union in England, more than 4,000 are out of work.

Texas Viewpoints

Houston Chronicle: No matter how technically consistent it may appear, we cannot forget that the refusal of congress to adopt any kind of a special measure in behalf of those farmers victimized by recent floods comes after congress had—Appropriated $20,000,000 for Russian relief; Authorsed a loan of $5,000,000 to Liberia; provided assistance for the drouth-stricken farmers of the northwest; come to the rescue of Kansas farmers in their battle with grasshoppers; helped the railroads with an immense revolving fund during the post-war period, etc., etc. Neither can we forget the thousands upon thousands of packages of free seeds that find their way into apartment houses and flats and other inappropriate places as political remembrances from congressmen. Congress may be acting in strict obedience to the constitution when it ignores this widespread calamity, and refuses to assist a washed-out multitude to the extent of providing a portion of the necessary seed. If so, congress has done some things that we find it hard to explain. It is hard, for instance, to reconcile the free seed graft in times of prosperity with such niggardliness in a time of stress. Our legislators suffer from periodic spasms of fear of paternalism. Strange as it may seem, these spasms occur when paternalism is the most excusable and the least dangerous. At other times, when there seems no good warrant for it, they are glad to shovel government funds out of the window without quaim or scruple. They are willing to deluge the country with tons of useless literature, which, in 99 cases out of 100, only helps to fill wastebaskets and make the garbage collector's job more burdensome. They are willing to supply the great congested districts with lettuce and turnips and peas and radishes, though there isn't vacant land enough to raise a real good row. They are willing to rush shiploads of seed grain to the Volga, followed by other shiploads of experts, auditors, accountants and moral purveyors. They are willing to see that the little black republic on the African coast is safeguarded against the proverbial rainy day. When it comes to a general clean-out of the river bottoms, with many thousands of honest, hard-working American farmers confronted with the necessity of replanting late in the season and after having lost about everything, these selfsame legislators suddenly remember that there is a constitution. The result of such a whimsical, half legal, half political policy is that some people get help from the federal government when they are in trouble while others do not. If congress were to take some of its free seed money and convert it into a revolving fund for use of the agricultural department in case of an unusual disaster to the farmers in any part of the country, we should be getting somewhere.

YOU AND I

By ALBERT APPLE

FAME.

C. W. Barron, veteran financial writer who has so much horse sense that Wall street stops and listens when he talks, says in a speech:

"On the top of the Rocky Mountains where the line of the Union Pacific goes over the Great Divide there stands a monument in stone to Oakes and Oliver Ames, the shovel makers of Massachusetts, who first bound in lines of iron the Mississippi Valley and the Rocky Mountains."

You know a lot about Napoleon Bonaparte and other destroyers But did you ever before hear of Oakes and Ames, constructors of first railroads linking the Mississippi Valley with the Rocky Mountains? Probably not. Such is fame, laurels all for the destroyers. Even Barron off-hand couldn't remember Oakes' first name.

CONQUERORS.

E. H. Harriman, son of a clergyman who never had an income bigger than $800 a year, became a railroad king.

Harriman built railroads that enabled farmland 1500 miles from seaboard to compete in the Liverpool grain market with the wheat lands near South America's coast. He conquered space, built a commercial empire from the Atlantic to the Pacific and down to the Gulf of Mexico.

Quite an achievement. Yet the history books have little to say about "E. H." though devoting pages to a man named Guster who never did anything except shoot a lot of Indians and finally got shot himself.

Fame shadows unimportance. It's the step-brother of notoriety.

REWARD.

People know lots about the destroyers of the past, very little about the past's inventors and constructors. That is the fault of hero-worshipers who wrote our history books.

The public instinctively realizes that one constructor is worth an army of destroyers. That is why the famous men of today, the ones most talked about, are the Henry Fords, Edisons, Rockefellers, Steinmetzes, Marconis and Goethalses.

Historians will change it all. When they get through with the records, militarists will eclipse the others. That is, unless the movement to write history sensibly becomes successful.

MIGHTY.

Barron, financial writer, wonders what has made the United States develop in less than two centuries from a wildness to "the greatest nation on which the sun has shone."

It isn't territory and fertile soil, for Africa beats us in that respect. It isn't wheat raising area, for Canada beats us there. It isn't education, for we are far behind Germany, where 98 per cent of the population can read and write.

Freedom has something to do with it. But the great force that created Uncle Sam's empire was plain, old-fashioned hard work, a vagabond now held generally in contempt.

TROUBLES.

Countess Wanda Lubrenska is in Paris, having fled from Russia. The war killed he husband, father and five brothers. Her five children are dead—one killed by a runaway horse, second by scalding, third by fire, fourth in a building collapse, fifth during a riot

While the countess was telling her tale of woe to friends in Paris, she fell downstairs and broke both legs.

How does your lot compare with hers? Have you troubles or do you just think you have? We are never so badly off but what things might be worse. That is worth remembering, in the blackest hour—which always comes just before the sunrise of a new day.

CRAZY.

Herman Hoffman, former New York judge, has been studying the feeble minded as his hobby since retiring from the bench.

He asks: "Have you ever had an argument which left you brooding for some time, even bringing you to tears? For that moment, for those 10 minutes or more while you are in that mood, there is enough to warrant a physician in characterizing you as being temporarily insane."

What Hoffman is driving at is his claim that countless people only temporarily deranged are being railroaded into insane asylums, where they become in a short time incurably insane.

The craziest ones never get locked up. You read about them every day, including what Ed Howe calls "public affairs lunatics."

PLANNING YOUR HOME

By DR R. H. BISHOP.

Of late years city life has become too crowded. More families every year are removing from stuffy city dwellings and finding homes in suburbs or country

The big city is no place to give children the advantages of fresh air and freedom. Still it has many advantages, and the city man who moves to the suburbs misses the janitor, the frequent car service, easily accessible stores, and places of amusement.

In erecting a suburban home, it is important that the site be free from natural dampness; that pure water be obtainable; that sewage be not liable to become a source of contamination and that the building is substantial, and sufficiently provided with appliances for heating, lighting and ventilation.

There is a marked difference between towns with sewers and those without. In the former, soggy land can be drained. In the latter it is impossible.

If water is conducted through street mains, care should be exercised to ascertain the source.

In sections where wells are used, it is necessary to protect the water-bearing strata against contamination.

Frequent chemical analysis and bacteriological examination of the water is desirable.

If sewers are not maintained, there are several methods adaptable for the disposition of sewage, the description of which space does not allow here.

Suffice it to say, there are many sanitary measures the prospective suburbanite must consider before planning or selecting his home

ALL THE NEWS OF ALL THE SPORTS ALL THE TIME

Jacobus Baffles The Spudders and Evens Series for Beaumont

BEAUMONT, TEXAS, May 29.—The Beaumont Exporters evened up the series with the Spudders here Sunday when Stuart Jacobus held them at bay for the second time this season. The final count was 6 to 1. Salm's heavy artillery which was so effective here Saturday was thoroughly silenced by the Beaumont ace who let the invaders down with five lonely bingles.

Steve Mokan essayed to make it two in a row over the home boys, but was not equal to the occasion. He gave way to "Lefty" McAbee in the sixth. The former Wichita Falls high school twirler gave an excellent account of himself during his three innings on the mound and only one man reached first base. But the damage had been done. Jacobus was as strong at the finish as at the start and the visitors did not have a chance.

The Exporters jumped on Mokan in the opening frame for their first counter. Rader's single, Stansbury's sacrifice and Anderson's double turned the trick. The Spudders got that run back in the third on White's safe slap, Mokan's infield out and Adams' safety, but they were not dangerous thereafter.

The two runs scored by the Exporters in the fourth were the result of Brennan's double, Jacobus' Texas leaguer, Stansbury's infield hit and Anderson's single which scored the first two.

With two down in the fifth Mathes doubled over the right field fence and scored when Adams threw Brennan's roller wide to first. Brennan went to second on the heave, [illegible] there while Jacobus was [illegible] a pass and counted on Rader's slashing single to center.

Browns 4, White Sox 2.

CHICAGO, May 28—Timely hitting by St. Louis behind bases on balls gave the visitors the final game of the series here with Chicago today 4 to 2. Danforth was hit hard but was given sensational support, a play by Gerber in the seventh inning retiring the side, and cutting off at least two Chicago runs. Gerber also starred at the bat with four hits in five times up. McManus drew four walks in as many times up and scored 2 of the visitors runs.

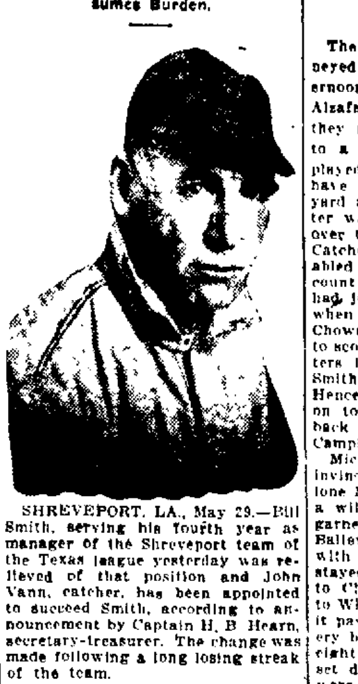
BILLY SMITH GETS AXE AT SHREVEPORT

Gasser Pilot Relieved From Management—Catcher Vann Assumes Burden.



SHREVEPORT, LA., May 29.—Bill Smith, serving his fourth year as manager of the Shreveport team of the Texas league yesterday was relieved of that position and John Vann, catcher, has been appointed to succeed Smith, according to announcement by Captain H. B Hearn, secretary-treasurer. The change was made following a long losing streak of the team.

HOUSTON, May 29—Billy Smith, who has long been manager of the Gassers, received word yesterday of his release as manager. The management of the club has been turned over to Jack Vann, the husky Shreveport catcher. It is said that Smith has been offered the position of business manager of the Shreveport club. To date no deal has been made with the Gasser management.

GOLDING BRINGS REAL GLORY TO LOCAL GOLF CLUB

Dudley Golding's putter lost its cunning Saturday, had it not done so he, and not "Toothpick" Dexter of Dallas would have been hailed golfing champion Saturday night, according to Wichitans who witnessed the finals in the championship contest.

Had Golding been able to sink even half of the four and five putts that he had during the morning round, he would have finished the first 18 holes four or five up, and would have had a margin that Dexter would have been unable to overcome in the afternoon's play. On green after green Golding had a chance to win by sinking an average-lengthed putt, but failed.

But the local golfers who saw Golding play speak of this neither as alibi nor as apology. They feel that the runner-up brought real glory to the Wichita Falls club, and that he came mighty near to bringing still greater glory. Entering the tournament with few expecting him to survive the first or second round, he put one after another of the state's leading golfers into the discard and earned the right, last Friday, to go into the finals by playing 36 holes of golf that was brilliant and unbeatable.

Wonderful Driving.

They will be talking about Golding's drives at Fort Worth for a long time. His full, clean swing sent the ball on trips around 300 yards many times—his average was better than 250. Not only in distance but in accuracy of direction were his tee shots a big factor in the wonderful showing he made, the ball covering the pin on one fairway after another.

The tournament was disappointing in that it drew comparatively few players from the state as a whole. Fort Worth, Dallas and Wichita Falls contributed 80 per cent of the contestants, Waco, Austin, San Antonio, Houston and Galveston having few representatives. The smaller clubs of the state were hardly in evidence at all. The fact that south Texas players are unable to come to Fort Worth rather discouraged Wichita Falls players in their plans for inviting the state tournament here in 1924, as it would be still more difficult to bring here a representative showing from the state as a whole.

Tom Cochran, victim of Bryan Heard in the first round of the tournament, romped through the consolation match with little difficulty, not being pushed to win any of his matches.

MASKATS DEFEATED BY ALZAFAR TEMPLE

Wild Peg By Sandifer Gives Visitors Winning Run in the Ninth.

The handful of fans which journeyed to Athletic Park Sunday afternoon to take in the first Maskat-Alzafar were well rewarded though they saw their favorites go down to a 2 to 1 defeat. Few better played and better hurled games have been staged in the local ball yard and not until the final chapter was the deciding run chased over the platter. A wild heave by Catcher Sandifer in this round enabled Chowning of the visitors to count from second base. Chowning had just singled and stolen second when "Sandie" uncorked the peg. Chowning realized that if he were to score he would have to take matters into his own hands as Lynn Smith was going like a house afire. Hence, he lit out for third and kept on to the plate when the Maskat back stop tossed the sphere over Campbell's head.

Michael, the visiting hurler, was invincible in every chapter and the lone Maskat tally was the result of a wild peg and the only base hit garnered by the home aggregation. Ballew slapped a single to left field with one out in the seventh and stayed on first while Sandifer skied to Chowning. Al Booth grounded to Whitney and when the latter shot it past Benton, Ballew touched every base. In seven of the other eight innings the home crew was set down in order. Ten Maskats were retired via the strikeout route and only two were passed, one of whom was the first victim in a double killing.

Smith also hurled great ball, though one earned run was made off him. This tally could have been avoided if center fielder Skinner had properly judged Halliday's drive which went over his head for two bases. Reese was perched on second at the time as a result of being hit by one of Smith's hooks and a stolen base.

With the exception of the two wild heaves which were so disastrous the fielding by both clubs was faultless. Both infields and outfields handled everything in big league fashion.

INDIANAPOLIS TEAM ON WAY TO RECORD

INDIANAPOLIS, May 29—The Indianapolis American association team was well on its way toward a world's record for holding opponents runless yesterday, according to William Smith Jr., the club's vice-president. The lone run scored by Columbus in the eighth inning of the second game of a double header was the first in 43 consecutive innings.

The record, according to Mr Smith, was established by the Pittsburgh Nationals, who started June, 1903, and blanked their opponents for 52 consecutive innings.

RACERS PUTTING ON FINISHING TOUCHES

Best Field Ever Entered In Tenth Annual Indianapolis Sweepstakes.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 29—The last few hours are the shortest. At least that is the opinion of a number of race drivers who planned a long day of work in final participation for the tenth annual 500-mile automobile race, to be held at the Indianapolis motor speedway tomorrow. Many things yet remained to be done before they would be willing to pronounce their mounts in perfect condition, they said, but all expected to be ready at post time.

Four drivers are yet to qualify their cars for the contest. They will take their trials this afternoon and must drive at a speed of not less than 80 miles an hour to earn the right to compete with 35 others for nearly $100,000 in prizes which will be distributed to the first ten cars to finish the contest. Howard Wilcox, Frank Davidson, William Gardner and Jack Curtner are the men to have failed to date to get their machines in shape to qualify.

Late last night a half dozen or more of the racing machines were in various stages of reconstruction, having been torn down for a final overhauling. Other drivers and mechanicians planned to spend the day checking over their mounts.

The field scheduled to start tomorrow is said by followers of the sport to be the best that ever participated in a 500-mile race. Tommy Milton, last year's winner and 1921 speed king, Ralph de Palma, Jimmy Murphy, Jules Goux, and Howard Wilcox have proved their right to be classed as leaders in speedway racing. Jules Ellingbee, Leon Du Ray and several others are considered as among the best of the dirt track racers. They too will drive some fine machinery and are expected to make the race interesting for the veterans.

ELECTRA POST AMERICAN LEGION TO DECORATE GRAVES OF COMRADES

ELECTRA, TEXAS, May 29—The Electra Post American Legion will decorate graves of ex-service men in the local cemetery Tuesday, May 30. All ex-service men, regardless of whether or not they are affiliated with the local post, are requested to be at the Grand theatre at 1 o'clock, and to bring flowers.

The legion is perfecting plans for a tag day to raise money for the purpose of building an iron fence around the graveyard. Plans call for a large arched gateway with separate entrances for pedestrians.

RUTH'S 1921 MARK TIED BY HORNSBY

Cardinal Slugger Passes Ken Williams In Home Run Race.

NEW YORK, May 29—While Babe is going hitless as well as homerunless, his rivals are pounding out a fast increasing margin for the king of clouters to shoot at when he regains his slugging stride. Rogers Hornsby, great second baseman of the St. Louis Nationals, slammed out a brace of homers yesterday, increasing his total to 13 and took the lead from his American league fellow townsman, Kenneth Williams, who has 12, and "Bing" Miller of the Athletics, close behind with 11.

Incidentally, Hornsby reached a level with Ruth's 1921 record pace, although the latter made it 14 just a year ago this afternoon.

Hornsby's two blows, with another by Austin McHenry, overthrew Pittsburgh 4-3, giving the Cardinals the deciding game of the series.

The home run epidemic also spread to Washington and Brooklyn. Joe Judge's clout scored three runs, tied the Yanks and enabled Washington to win in the tenth 4-3, while Walter Johnson held the Yanks in check, Ruth failing to get the ball out of the infield in five times at bat. Zack Wheat rapped out a four ply blow with two men on the bases, but Boston won from the Dodgers, 5 to 4.

Frank Frisch had an off-day in the field and made four errors, but the Giants hit Winters hard with men on bases and beat Philadelphia for their fifth straight win, 8 to 1.

Chicago won a loosely played game from Cincinnati, 8 to 7, after Alexander had been driven from the box; sensational fielding and timely hitting, especially by Gerber, enabled St. Louis to down the White Sox, 4-2, while five Cleveland pitchers failed to stop Detroit and Cobb's men won, 7-5. Speaker featured at bat with four hits.

CHATS WITH YOUR GAS MAN:

People speak of their public utilities (their gas, electric light, street railway and telephone companies) as "they," and of the men who work for them as "those men." Why not say "we," a friendly little word would serve to bring us all closer together!

And why shouldn't it be "we"? Because whether we are stockholders or not, we are part owners of these necessary public servants, through the investments of trust companies, banks and insurance companies.

Yet how few of us think of this! Not one citizen out of a hundred realizes that in one form or another his actual savings and insurance and his wife's and children's welfare depend upon the prosperity and continued operation of the public utilities!

No need for sentiment here. The question is one of direct self-interest; of dollars and cents, our savings! So that when we see to it that our public utilities are kept in a healthy condition, we are doing the most natural thing in the world—we are merely protecting our own money.

COTTON—GRAIN—FINANCIAL—LIVESTOCK—PRODUCE

COTTON MARKET.

New York Cotton.

NEW YORK, May 28.—The cotton market opened firm at an advance of 7 to 27 points with active months selling about 20 to 25 points net higher on or right after the call, owing to steady Liverpool cables, reports of unsettled weather in the south and complaints that boll weevils are numerous in many parts of the belt. The advance to 21.35 for July and 20.85 for October made a new high price for the movement and attracted a good deal of scattered realizing for over the holiday tomorrow. July sold off to 21.05 and October at 20.62 in consequence, but Liverpool was a buyer and there was enough trade or commission house demand to give the market a steady undertone.

July sold off to 20.82 and October to 20.42 early in the session, or about 18 to 22 points net lower, owing partly to reports that crop advices from the southwest were beginning to show some improvement. Offerings became smaller at the decline, however, while the detailed weather reports showed pretty heavy eastern belt rains and the market showed rallies of 8 or 10 points around 2 o'clock on covering.

An early report making the condition of the crop 67.9 with an increase of 5.5 per cent in acreage pointing to a yield of 10,296,000 bales, was without any apparent influence on the market. The demand tapered off after the early buying orders had been executed, however, and a report published later in the morning making the condition of the crop 21 l. led to a little more scattering liquidation. Prices eased off in consequence with July selling down to 21.00 and October to 20.61 shortly after midday, or about net unchanged to 3 points lower.

New Orleans Cotton.

NEW ORLEANS, May 29.—The rainy weather in the eastern half of the belt, the storm in the eastern Gulf of Mexico, and private bureau report on condition of 67.9, indicating an increase in the acreage of 5½ per cent and a crop of but 10,800,000 bales, put the cotton market at high levels on the opening today. The advance continued until trading months were up 16 to 26 points with July at 21.02. Heavy realizing came from the long side and new selling was aroused by a private bureau report on condition of 72. At the end of the first hour prices were 7 points higher and 2 lower than the close of last week. July fell back to 20.82.

Offerings from the long side increased and in the trading up to 11 o'clock the list went as low as 7 to 11 points net lower, July falling to 20.65.

In the late trading the market was soft with offerings rather liberal and no new demand of consequence. In the trading up to 12:30 o'clock prices went as low as 10 to 13 points under the close of last week. July stood at 20.63 at its lowest.

Cotton closed steady at a net decline of 7 to 10 points.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE

Chicago Grain.

CHICAGO, May 29.—Indications that a speculator who had taken a large amount of wheat on May contracts was freely selling July led to a sharp setback in wheat prices today, although earlier the market was climbing. May tumbled to 1.15½.

The market closed heavy, 5¾ to 6c net lower, with May 1.15¾ to 1.18¾ and July 1.19¼.

After opening unchanged to ⅛c lower, July 42¾ to 42c, corn scored general gains.

Big receipts and ideal weather counted as bearish factors later when wheat went down grade. The close was weak, ½ to 1½c net lower, with July 61¾ to 61½.

Oats stadted ⅛c lower to ⅛c advance, July 38⅛c to 38⅛c, and afterwards ascended a little all around.

Provisions reflected the grain advance.

NEW YORK STOCKS

New York Stocks.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The cut in railroad wages announced overnight by the railroad labor board and firmness of foreign exchanges evidently were regarded as bullish arguments by traders, judging from the strength of the general list at the opening of today's session. Several of the junior rails made one point gain, while investments recorded large fractional advances. Independent steels again were sustained by revival of merger reports, Crucible rising one point and Republic Iron two points. Foreign oils continued to strengthen Mexican Petroleum gaining two points. Among specialties Famous Players, American Tobacco and United Drug were substantially higher and shorts were driven to cover in Sumatra Tobacco, that stock showing an early gain of 4½ points.

Speculative operations for the advance continued to be conducted with renewed confidence. New high records for the year were established by many of the usual leaders, as well as a number of the minor issues which have recently become prominent in the dealings. These included Mexican Petroleum, Studebaker, Coca Cola, California Petroleum, American Linseed and Marland Oil. Standard Oil of California moved up 3½, American Sumatra Tobacco preferred 3½ and Coca Cola, Bosch Magneto, Stromberg, American Linseed, Marland Oil and California Petroleum 3 to 5½.

The closing was strong. Sales approximated 1,150,000 shares.

SHERMAN ACT DON'T APPLY TO BASEBALL COURT DECLARES

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Organized baseball, as conducted by professional clubs under the national agreement, the supreme court held today, is not interstate commerce and the clubs are not liable under the Sherman anti-trust laws.

The decision of the court was a victory for organized baseball as against the claims of the Baltimore club of the defunct Federal league, and sets aside the verdict of the District of Columbia supreme court awarding the Baltimore club damages of $240,000 against organized baseball.

Justice Holmes, in rendering the opinion of the court, declared that personal efforts not related to production are not interstate commerce. A lawyer sent to another state to argue a case is not engaged in interstate commerce, nor is a chautauqua lecturer engaged in interstate commerce, he added.

OPPOSITION SHOWN TO CAR FRANCHISE TO NORTH WICHITA

COLLIER AND CLIFFORD WANT PROVISION FOR REPAIRING STREETS.

COUNCIL FAILS TO ACT AT CALLED SESSION

Two Members Favor Granting Request—May Result in Abandoning Project.

Opposition to the granting of the North Wichita franchise for the traction company developed at the called meeting of the city council Monday morning, when the matter came up for consideration.

Mayor Collier and Street Commissioner Clifford each indicated unwillingness to pass the franchise ordinance without a provision that would require the traction company to maintain the streets between the tracks. There is no disposition to require the company to do any paving, but the two officials mentioned want a provision in the ordinance to force the company to keep the streets in repair.

The council did not act finally on the matter, and may consider it further at Monday night's session. L. L. Albritton, manager of the traction company, said that Mr. Keil felt that it would save him money if the line were not built, but that he wanted to build it on account of the manner in which interested property owners were cooperating. Mr. Albritton indicated that if the council stood with the mayor and street commissioner in the matter, the line would not be built.

No vote was taken at the session Monday. Commissioners Stayton and Shepherd appeared willing to pass the ordinance as presented. Commissioners Fitts and Reed did not express themselves

Mayor Collier recalled the controversy between the city and the traction company over repairing the paving at Tenth and Lamar, and said that the company's attitude in that matter seemed to make it necessary for the council to take steps to protect itself in the future. Mr. Clifford pointed out that, under the ordinance, the company could put its tracks on any grade it pleased, and the city would have no remedy. Mr. Albritton said that the company was always willing to make its tracks conform to grade when the grade was furnished.

Commissioner Stayton took the view that the benefits accruing from the new car line would largely offset any concessions the city might make to the council. Commissioner Shepherd said that it was known that the company had never been operated profitably, and that the council could afford to encourage the building of new lines.

The franchise ordinance was presented, accompanied by a letter from Mr. Keil saying that the line would serve a part of town where automobiles were few and where street car service was badly needed. The letter also said that the company had an option on a very favorable contract for building the river bridge, which option expired June 1, and asked that the council act as promptly as possible.

HERRON DISTRICT WIDENED BY WELL COMING IN SUNDAY

Extending the productive area of the Herron district of Young county one and one-half miles to the southeast, the Tyrell Oil company's No. 1 on the Williams tract came in late Sunday flowing at the rate of 400 barrels. The top of the sand was encountered at 2,580 feet and was penetrated a few feet when the well began to flow.

The Mahisted-Mook well is the closest producer being about half a mile to the east.

WELL MAY EXTEND ELECTRA POOL OVER MILE SOUTHWARD

The Bankers Petroleum company's No. 7 well in the northeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 33 Waggoner tract in the South Electra pool has what looks like a good gas sand at 1,660 feet showing considerable oil. Casing has been set and the well will be bailed Tuesday. The well is over a mile and a half west of the proven area for that depth, the nearest being on the Bridwell-Heydrick to the east. To the south the Petroleum Producers company has several shallow wells and on the east a number of small producers in the 450 foot sand.

MRS. R. W. GULLAHORN IS CALLED BY DEATH SUNDAY FUNERAL HELD MONDAY

Mrs. R. W. Gullahorn, aged 71, died at 6:15 Sunday morning in her home, 1206 Broad street, after a period of ill health brought on by advancing years. Her condition was regarded as critical for the past few days

Mrs. Gullahorn had been a resident of Wichita Falls for 31 years and enjoyed an unusually large circle of friends and acquaintances in this city and north Texas.

She leaves five children, three daughters and three sons as survivors, they being Mrs. Fred Smith, Mrs. D. H. Jackson, W. S. and J. S. Gullahorn, all of Wichita Falls, and Mrs. Tom Huggins of Childress. All were at their mother's bedside when the end came.

Funeral services were held at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon from the home with Rev. H. D. Knickerbocker, pastor of the First Methodist church, south, officiating. Burial was in Riverside cemetery.

The pallbearers were W. L. Ponder, J. H. Patton, D. M. Perkins, M. A. Bundy, Fred Morris and Bob Huggins.

TWO MORE ARRESTS FOLLOW STATEMENT OF 15-YEAR-OLD GIRL

Two more arrests were made by county officials Monday afternoon following a statement made by the 15 year old girl who was taken into custody Sunday night upon information received from Amarillo.

The girl, who, it is said was enticed to leave home by a man who was found registered with her at a local hotel, told the officers of incidents of Sunday night.

A negro porter was placed under arrest on a charge of soliciting and a man is being held upon a statutory charge.

JALONIC AND LAMAR ROUTE FOR HIGHWAY SELECTED BY COURT

ACTION FOLLOWS FEDERAL ENGINEER'S RECOMMENDATION.

UP TO CITY TO SEE CROSSING IS PROVIDED

If This Is Not Done Paving Will Stop Just South of Valley Tracks.

Jalonic street to Lamar street was the course decided upon for the Clay county paved road by the county commissioners at 3.45 o'clock Monday afternoon. This decision was reached after Federal Engineer Henry and State Engineer had submitted a recommendation selecting this route.

If the city council will secure the crossing at Lamar and Jalonic the county will pave to meet the pavement of Lamar street, and if the council does not secure this crossing the pavement will stop at the Wichita Valley tracks.

This route was considered by the council several weeks ago, but the objection made to this route was the hairpin turn off Lamar into Jalonick.

It is possible that the council may secure the crossing across the railroad tracks which will involve the purchasing of some property.

Federal Engineer D. E Henry and State Engineer A. S. Henning, following an inspection of the proposed route to the Clay county road over Mississippi street condemned this exit by reason of the many railroad tracks which must be crossed.

The city council several weeks ago had tentatively decided upon this course to the Henrietta-Fort Worth road but the highway men objected to it and have asked that a different route be decided upon.

Committees of residents from three different streets waited upon the commissioners' court in session Monday but each in turn were told to take the matter to the city council as they had stated before.

The commissioners reiterated their statement that they would pave up to the city limits unless a course was decided upon by the city council The court does not care to enter into a discussion over the route to the road, contending that is a matter within the jurisdiction of the council.

Indiana, Lamar and Scott streets were represented in the committees that waited upon the court Monday morning and afternoon.

3 NEW WELLS IN ELIASVILLE FIELD MANY ON THE SAND

ELIASVILLE, TEXAS, May 29.—The Eliasville fields has three new wells with many wells on the sand and several new locations. The Phillips Petroleum company have a 400 barrel on the Katy Bell lease three and one-half miles southwest; the California Petroleum company has completed its R. F. Brown No. 2, which is reported good for 150 barrels with three million feet of gas; the new Brown well is four miles west of Eliasville and is on the north side of the Clear Fork river; the Prairie Oil and Gas company has completed a 200 barrel well on its Adkins lease four miles south.

The Panhandle Martin No. 1, three miles north of Eliasville is creating quite a lot of interest as it is flowing oil, gas and salt water with an enormous pressure. This well may open up a new Young county field when casing is set to cut off the salt water. Mid-Kansas has a new rig on the ground for its J. W. Hill No. 10 and the Prairie Oil and Gas company is building a rig on their Adkins lease.

STRONG SERMON BY DR. GREEN SUNDAY AT CENTRAL CHURCH

Dr James S. Green, recently called to the pastorate of the Central Presbyterian church from Kentucky, preached a strong sermon Sunday morning on "the New Earth" as the prophet Isaiah described the world to come, taking his texts from Matthew and his references from both the prophetic utterances of the Old Testament and the promises of the New.

The texts from Matthew, "It is given unto you to know the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven," and "Ye cannot discern the signs of the times," were quoted in the opening of the sermon as among the most suggestive utterances of Jesus Christ. "The most profound and revolutionary epoch in human history was opening then and there," he declared:

"The man who was to reshape the world life was speaking. Yet the people could not see and could not understand. The old order, the familiar paths of thought were good enough for them. Weatherwise as to heaven and earth, they were blind and deaf as to the cosmic changes in the spiritual world. This is the persistent evil that bars the progress of the race from age to age. That changed conditions demand new thinking seems to be a hard, strange saying to each generation. You cannot live successfully in the conditions of today with the thinking of yesterday. At this point is waged the eternal battle between conservatism and progress. Many need to learn to read the signs of the times in this day.

New World Life and Ideals.

"The culmination of both the Old and New Testaments may be found in the ideal of a new world life. Old Testament prophets present inspired pictures of an ideal world where wolf and lamb shall dwell together, the leopard and kid shall lie down together, and the calf and young lion and the fattling together, and a little child shall lead them. So blessed and so profoundly different was the new order of things to be that Isaiah called it 'a new earth.' In the closing chapters of the Revelation, John gives his apocalyptic vision of 'the new heavens and new earth wherein dwelleth righteousness.'

"The burden of the teaching of Jesus was the kingdom of God, and ideal state of divine peace and joy and righteousness on the earth. Jesus taught his followers to pray for, and therefore, to expect the full coming of God's kingdom in this world when His 'will shall be done on earth as it is done in heaven.' We believe this to be the consummation toward which the world's activities are unconsciously working. Israel's ideal of world dominion as revealed by the prophets was an ideal of a kingdom which was to attain greatness and peace through righteousness.

Growth of Ideals.

"There is an evolution in ethical standards which corresponds to a changing environment. Many great teachers have arisen who have promulgated ideals far in advance of their time, which have only been gradually understood and accepted as working ideals. No Christian nation has yet grown up to the standards of the Ten Commandments, much less to the ideals of the Sermon on the Mount. Though the principles of conduct that Christ laid down were largely social, our religion has been very largely individualistic. The majority of people still think that the ethical ideals of the Sermon on the Mount are not practical. World conditions, however, are rapidly becoming such that its ideals will be the only ones that are practical. Men are going to be compelled to live together in harmony or they will not be able to live at all. The world has entered upon a new age of such inter-dependence that the ideals governing action must henceforth be social and not individualistic. It is only in the light of the new world life that the Christian Church has begun to understand what Jesus meant by the kingdom of heaven. An ideal for human society in which all men should live as brethren and the 'will of God be done on earth as it is done in heaven.'

"Christianity is for the individual, society, state and world. Proof that Christianity is for the individual and for all human society lies in the realization of what Jesus meant in his preaching of the kingdom of heaven, which beyond question formed the burden of His message. This forms the key to his ministry. 'Jesus began to preach, and to say, repent for the kingdom of heaven is at hand.' He refers to the kingdom of heaven more than fifty times in the gospel of Matthew, and more than one hundred times in the three synoptic gospels. This was the burden of the commission given to his disciples 'As ye go preach saying the kingdom of heaven is at hand.'

What Kingdom of Heaven Means.

"Although Jesus repeatedly speaks of the 'Kingdom of Heaven' nowhere does he distinctly define it. He did not need to do so. He spoke to the Jews to whom the term was familiar, at least ever since the prophecy of Daniel. They understood what he meant. And if he did not define it then he must have meant what they understood by the kingdom of heaven. (1) The Jews understood a kingdom upon this earth. It did not mean a kingdom after death. (2) They believed this kingdom would be universal. (3) They believed that this kingdom would have an ideal character. The Old Testament is full of pictures of this idealistic kingdom. We conclude that Christ must have meant an ideal kingdom on this earth, under His spiritual reign, as the Divine Sovereign ruler. In this earthly, universal-ideal kingdom, the law of God was to be its law, and its peoples dwelling in peace and happiness. Jesus did not say when this kingdom should be perfectly established, and he disabused the mind of his followers of the idea that it was to be immediate. It was to be an evolution progressive, and it is still coming. The limitations of the kingdom always come from its perversion, not from its practice. Because misunderstood rather than applied. The limitations of the kingdom always come from its perversion, not from its practice. Because misunderstood rather than applied. The religion of Jesus is today the only religion which is not provincial, which is universally adaptible to the whole world and to all the changing conditions of human society in all ages and at all times. It is universal. No mind can measure the evils now existing, and which have come to the world in the passing ages—what indefinite loss to the church, because Christians have failed to apply Christ's teachings, His ideals as the healing balm to the festering sore of human society in its social, economic, national and world life. This is the chief obstacle to the progress of the kingdom, to all mission work at home and abroad. Only the complete Christly religion of the kingdom of heaven as Jesus taught can save the World. And it is this universal, ideal, complete, sufficient, early kingdom of heaven for which we are to pray, in which we are to believe, and which is still coming in this world."

WAGGONER RANCH LEASE AUCTION ON JUNE FIFTEENTH

Simultaneously with the announcement in Sunday's Times of the auction sale of oil leases on the Waggoner ranch June 15 appeared similar announcements in about fifteen metropolitan newspapers and journals in various parts of the country, according to a statement made to The Times by James L. Post, a press and publicity director formerly of St. Louis, now located in Wichita Falls, and who has been given charge of the exploration department of these auctions. He was selected to direct the work at the suggestion of E. C. D'Yarmett, a mining engineer and geologist of national reputation, who has for some time past made his headquarters in Wichita Falls. Post says he is weaving a lot of data into readable shape to be used in connection with the Waggoner ranch oil lease auctions, but that the time is too short to prepare and release it with this initial announcement in Sunday's Times, so he is going to let the announcement elsewhere in this issue speak for itself. He has, as he expresses it, some big job on hand to cover the country in the brief time allowed, but as he has on previous occasions outlined and directed several national commercial campaigns as well as the press and publicity of several successful gubernatorial campaigns back in Missouri, he says it makes him feel at home. He is not quite a stranger in this community, having made us several visits and several articles written by him have appeared in The Times. In speaking of the mining engineer who is so enthusiastic about the Waggoner ranch, he stated that D'Yarmett way back in 1900 was chief engineer of the Miles Salt company, which company that year rented some property near Beaumont, Texas, to Captain Lucas, who was D'Yarmett's immediate predecessor as the company's chief engineer. Captain Lucas prospected for sulphur and in so doing opened up the famous "Spindle Top" which startled the world. Mr. D'Yarmett is familiar with oil conditions and indications all over the country and located the fifth well in the Osage nation about 1903. D'Yarmett says there are 15 distinct oil producing sands in this territory of Texas, whereas there are only four such sands in the Osage nation. Said Mr Post: "In 1904 Mr. D'Yarmett estimated that the Osage nation would produce 800 million barrels of oil. The production has reached his figure and passed it. He estimates today that the Waggoner property will produce 200 million barrels. He says that where oil has been struck on the Waggoner property it has produced 12,000 barrels per acre with an acre only partially developed.

'Out off the ranch at Waggoner headquarters Bob More, as W. T. Waggoner's personal representative, sits on his throne single-handed and alone, modestly, quietly and efficiently wielding his sceptre in the shape of a red pencil and disposing of more business in an hour than the average public official presiding over a municipality with two or three secretaries to help him and three or four under-secretaries to complicate matters, would dispose of in a week. He sees everybody that calls and his answers are quick, quiet and firm. His face is a study when the big barbeque and auction set for June 15 is mentioned. He gets as excited as a school boy looking forward to a picnic as he outlines the great preparations he is making to entertain his guests and the guests of his big chief.

"W. T. Waggoner, cattle king and empire builder and the wire surrounding whose ranch, if laid out in a straight line would reach from New York to San Francisco. The announcement in Sunday's Times states that any one wishing additional information can obtain such by addressing Robert L. More, Waggoner Ranch Headquarters, Vernon, Texas."

STIMULATING MESSAGE AT NORTHSIDE REVIVAL

On Saturday evening, the sixth in the series of services, Judge W. E. Wilson brought a stimulating message that deeply interested the hearers.

Reading from the 38th chapter of the book of Jeremiah the speaker, with the manifest skill of an attorney for the defense, directed attention to the arraignment and trial for his life of the old prophet. Because he had dared, under duress of conscience, to foretell the impending doom of the city and temple as pronounced by Jehovah, the princes and those associated with them in ecclesiastical authority condemned Jeremiah to death upon the charge of blasphemy. But the princes of Judah and the leading people protested against it and maintained his innocence, as also did the venerable prophet himself in his defense on the stand. The certain destruction of the nation and its capital was shown to be the result of a shameful disregard of the divine will and finds its counterpart today in the history of countries and individuals who forget God's mercies and violate His ordinances. The speaker declared it was but the fulfillment of the Savior's utterance of a fixed law that "Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he reap."

On Sunday morning the pastor presented the claims of the Holy Spirit, considering (1) His place in the Holy Trinity, (2) His personality, and (3) His relation to mankind as an indispensable helper. Without His "striving" the sinner will not experience sufficiently deep conviction and contrition for his sin to induce him to flee the wrath to come and find salvation. The sinner may "resist" and "grieve" and "quench" the Holy Spirit's influence effectually, resulting in his utter and eternal undoing. It was also shown that failing to loyally follow the leadership of the Holy Spirit (Romans 8:14), the saved soul must be unhappy, disobedient and inefficient as a follower of the Master. The Holy Spirit must be welcomed, entertained and honored as royal guest of the Christian's heart.

At night the pastor took for his theme The Way Into the Kingdom of God, and the active and passive service enjoined, as set forth in the beatitudes (Matthew 5:3-12).

The message tonight will be brought by Judge S. A. L. Morgan.

W. A. BETTS, Pastor.

SUNDAY MORNING SHOWER NETS ONE TENTH OF AN INCH

One-tenth of an inch of rain fell early Sunday morning from the storm that was blown in by a strong west wind. There was considerable play of electricity in the storm and the wind at times reached near to the danger point velocity. No damage, however, was reported.

The storm, however, served the purpose of bringing slightly cooler weather over that of Saturday. The high mark for Sunday afternoon was 92 degrees and during the night fell to 73.

Early Monday morning a few drops of rain fell in this city but Burkburnett reported a very heavy rain which extended over a period of half an hour. Light showers were reported farther north on the Northwestern.

Partly clouded skies were reported from practically all points on local railroads Monday morning.

BUILDING ACTIVITY REPORTED AT CHILDRESS

CHILDRESS, May 29.—Additional contracts are being let in Childress for new business structures and residences, aiding very materially in putting Childress in a class to itself for construction during the spring months. H. D. Turner, recent purchaser of one of the Buster Brothers lots on the west side of Swearingen street, is preparing to erect a brick business house. Thaten and company have contracted with Conductor Hurdelston for a 25 by 75 foot brick store building on the lot now occupied by Nelson's cafe. Engineer Ed Hartsell plans to build on the corner lot now occupied by the Robertson Grain and Coal company.

Mrs. Wright is remodeling the building recently damaged by fire. It will be modern in every respect. Engineer Mart Coyle is planning the immediate construction of a brick store building adjoining his two-story brick.

CROWELL BREEDERS BUY VALUABLE BOAR

The boar will be used to build up the standard of their stock. The firm expects to put on a sale of 30 fine sows and gilts shortly.

Wichitans Lamp One Cool Million In Certified Check

Gang up, fellows, this is going to be good.

There's a man here, from New York, and he has a million dollars with him that he's going to invest in oil properties in this section—maybe.

There's no maybe about the million, though. It's a certified check on a big New York bank, and Wichitans who have feasted their eyes on it are unanimous in voting it a very handsome specimen of the lithographer's handicraft.

His name? A. P. O. N. Ain't puttin' out nuthin'. He doesn't want to get mobbed. He's working on the quiet, as behooves a man with that much money, and folks with stuff to sell won't be advised of his movements.

All kidding aside, he is working on some trades that will mean big things for the oil development of this section.

RIO BRAVO COMPANY TO BEGIN DEVELOPING OF HOLDINGS AT ELECTRA

The Rio Bravo Oil company, which owns in fee some valuable south Electra acreage, will shortly begin a brisk development campaign, putting down a number of wells, it was learned Monday, following the recent visit here of officials of that company, from Houston.

John R. Suman, assistant general manager, Production Superintendent Homer and other officials visited this city and Electra and mapped out their campaign. District offices are being established at Electra.

The Rio Brave company has taken over the original surveys given by the state to the H. & T. C. railroad in the Electra field, which that road has held on to for many years.

PARNELL TO BE IN LEGISLATIVE RACE, FROM THIS COUNTY

Another legislative candidate appeared Monday, when J. D. Parnell, who represented this district at Austin four years ago, announced that he would be in the race for place No. 1. Mr. Parnell will make his formal announcement shortly.

B. F. Johnson, who is considering the race for place No. 1, has not reached a decision as yet.

Pimples, blackheads and boils—fresh yeast rids you of them

It is well known that pimples and blackheads (acne) and boils are often caused by errors of diet.

Fleischmann's Yeast is now being recommended for these embarrassing and painful skin troubles because fresh yeast corrects the errors of diet which cause them.

The surgeon of one important New York hospital states: "I have used yeast extensively and found it invaluable in curing boils." When 17 cases of pimples were treated with Fleischmann's Yeast at hospitals in New York and Philadelphia the results were remarkable. A typical case was a young man who had suffered from pimples for three years. He ate three cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast daily. In five weeks the eruption had cleared completely.

If you are troubled with pimples or boils, begin at once to correct them by eating 2 or 3 cakes of Fleischmann's fresh yeast daily before or between meals. Be sure it's Fleischmann's Yeast—the familiar tin-foil package with the yellow label. Place a standing order with your grocer for Fleischmann's Yeast.
